Squire Root Collects $488.60

Quail-Shooting, Trespassing Cited

"Some of you have been very bad boys."

The remark was made to a group of eight disconsolate hunters by Magistrate Oscar Root Wednesday morning.

The eight men were haled before the justice on game violation counts ranging from trespassing to shooting a quail. Total bill was $488.60.

The parade of game violators was led down South Court street to Magistrate Root's office by Game Protector Clarence Francis who signed affidavits against:

Elvie Williams, 26, of Wheelersburg, Ky., for hunting without a non-resident permit, trespassing and shooting a quail out of season.

Hubert Blanton, 38, of Sciotoville, Ky., and Edgar Blanton, 34, of Salyersville, Ky., each for trespassing and hunting without a non-resident permit.

Oakley Blanton, 28, of Jackson Route 2; Eddie Risner, 37, of Jackson Route 2; Tom L. Blanton, 18, of Dayton; Ray Blanton, 23, of Beaver Route 1; and Paul W. Rowland, 28, of Jackson Route 4; each for trespassing.

According to the affidavits, all the men were trespassing on the George W. Adkins farm. On the trespassing counts, Magistrate Root fined each $15 and costs. For hunting without a non-resident permit, he assessed the violators $50 and costs each. The dead quail cost Williams $100 and costs.

"It's just a little ol' quail," said Magistrate Root. "A very small bird, but that small bird is going to cost you $100. In this state quail has been protected for years and years and years. There is no open season."

"If you had read the yellow slip that comes with your license, you would have known that."

Williams, Hubert Blanton and Oakley Blanton, the out-of-state men, were hunting on Ohio hunting permits.

All but Williams paid their fines and were released. Williams was committed to Pickaway County jail to sit out the fine and costs at $1 a day. His total bill was $186.40.

Root's slap at game violators this year apparently was tempered with mercy. The case last year of Massachusetts Industrialist Warren Beard in which fines and costs totalling $4,583.60 were assessed against him for

4 Persons Hurt In Car Smashup Wednesday Morn

Four persons were injured, one seriously, Wednesday morning in an auto smashup north-east of Circleville.

Seriously injured was Merle Mizelle, 32, of Columbus. Pickaway County Deputy Sheriff Mack Wise reported he suffered a severe head gash and possible concussion.

Less seriously injured and suffering lacerations and bruises were Mrs. Nellie Huston, 28, of Circleville Route 4, and her two children, Charles, 3, and Charlotte, 5.

Deputy Sheriff Wise said the cars, one driven by Mizelle and the other by Mrs. Huston, collided at the intersection of Township and Bethany roads, about a mile off State Route 188, five miles out of Circleville.

Wise said that preliminary investigation showed that Mizelle had failed to yield right-of-way. A formal accusation against the man was withheld pending outcome of treatment the Columbusite was receiving in Berger hospital.

The three Hustons also were being treated in the local clinic. Wise said he understood Mizelle was enroute to a hunting spot while the Hustons had been visiting relatives, were returning to their home only about a mile from the scene of the accident.

ELECTION RESULTS seem to him to indicate nationwide lack of confidence in President Truman's foreign policy and a definite turn to Republican principles, Senator Robert A. Taft, (R) Ohio, declares in a Washington news conference. The senator, reelected by an overwhelming majority, said he favors continued U. S. aid to anti-Communist nations, but only after Congress resurveys the whole question.

ROKS RETREAT 4 MILES

China Reds Drive Wedge Into Center Of UN Line

SEOUL, Nov. 15—Chinese and North Korean Red troops hammered South Korean forces into a four-mile retreat on the central front.

Apparently striving to open a gap between United Nations troops in the northwest and northeast sectors, the Communists smashed down the middle of the peninsula, driving the Rok (Republic of Korea) Eighth Division before them.

Over ground frozen by sub-zero or near-zero temperatures the South Koreans fell back four miles to the southern bank of the strategic Taedong river in an area four miles east of pivotal Tokchon.

Closely backed up by three Chinese route armies, the enemy's shock forces pressed a tri-

Campaign Eyed For Voluntary Defense Plan

WASHINGTON, Nov. 15—The National Production Authority considered today a vast campaign offering consumers their choice between voluntary conservation and rationing.

NPA officials said the program would parallel measures taken during World War II and, if it is inaugurated, would be ready for operation early next year.

Civilians would be asked to contribute to the military buildup by purchasing only those things they actually need. Any excess cash they may have on hand, the government feels, should be invested in savings bonds rather than materials to be hoarded.

Only "necessity" purchasing of such articles as rubber tires, aluminum pots and pans and other products made from scarce materials would be asked.

In this way, officials said, the production agency would try to spread available supplies among consumers. They said that further reductions in civilian production make conservation a "must."

6 Burned Bodies Found In Crash

PAGE, Okla., Nov. 15—Six burned bodies were found today in the wreckage of a Navy plane in the rugged mountain area near here.

The aircraft was a training plane from the New Orleans Naval Air Station on a training flight. Lt. Ramon George, public information officer at Lincoln naval air station, where the plane crashed at 3 p. m. yesterday, said, however, there were five men, all officers on the ship when it stopped at Lincoln.

ple-pronged assault in a possible preliminary to an anticipated major counter-push on the central front.

The Red drive was unleashed as a U. S. First Corps spokesman declared that Chinese Red commanders now have assumed control of all remaining North Korean troops.

THE ENEMY'S heavy onslaught was apparently aimed at carving out a southward-pointing bulge in the center that would endanger any further northward advances by UN forces in either the western or eastern coastal areas.

In most parts of the two coastal sectors the Reds were mysteriously withdrawing without leaving rear guard units.

This posed the possibility that the Chinese command, now in charge of all Red forces in Korea, was pursuing the strategy of attempting to set a double trap to envelop and chop off the U. S. Eighth Army in the west and the 10th Corps in the east.

As the ground fighting raged, 30 American B-29 bombers rained 300 tons of incendiaries on Hoeryong in the northernmost penetration yet made over Korea.

It was the 12th Superfort fire-bombing of an important rail-highway center at or near the Manchurian border since Nov. 5.

On the latter date, the hub of Kanggye in north central Korea was showered with incendiaries as Gen. Douglas MacArthur ordered a maximum air effort to destroy the routes over which Chinese Red troops move into Korea.

The five-way junction city of Hoeryong lies 30 miles north of the 42nd Parallel in Korea's far northeastern corner. It is on the east bank of the south-north stretch of the Tumen river, opposite Manchuria and 45 miles west of the eight-mile-long Siberian-Korean border.

AT YOERYONG, the Tumen flows north past Manchuria's Tumen city, 35 miles above Hoeryong. The Tumen turns east for a short distance before dipping south to empty into the Japan Sea just below Siberia's south-west tip.

While enemy forces drove forward in the center, American

Poor Ol' Santa Tossed In Clink

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 15—Sledging will be tough for the wrong Santa Claus in New Orleans this year.

The first Santa of the season—red suit, flowing white beard and all—appeared on Canal Street yesterday. He was promptly thrown into the clink.

Glen Slocumb, 32, who said he recently arrived from California, was jailed for begging. The Better Business Bureau protested his collections for a non-existent "Rescue Army Christmas Fund for Needy Families." Slocumb admitted the "needy" were his two buddies and himself. He said they split the first day's take—$25.

New Defense Tax Urged By Treasury

Corporation Profits Eyed By Government

WASHINGTON, Nov. 15—The administration today proposed to Congress a 75 percent "defense tax" on excess corporation profits to bring in the additional $4 billion annually asked by President Truman.

The proposal was accompanied by a hint of new taxes still to come. Talk in administration circles is that the incoming 82nd Congress will be asked to provide another $6 billion a year, partly through a boost in individual income taxes.

Treasury Secretary Snyder outlined the administration's excess tax proposal at the opening of hearings before the House Ways and Means Committee.

The new tax would be in addition to the maximum 45 percent levy now paid by corporations in income taxes and represents the "second installment" on the President's "interim" 1950 tax program.

The "first installment" provided for a $4.7 billion boost in taxes. Enacted last September, it included a $2.7 billion dollar increase in individual income taxes and a $1.6 billion rise in corporation income taxes.

SNYDER DECLARED that war or excess profits should be computed on the basis of corporation earnings during the years 1946, 1947, 1948 and 1949. He suggested that all profits above the average earned during three of the four years be taxed 75 percent. Each corporation would be permitted to eliminate its "poorest year" in computing its average earnings.

Snyder proposed that corporations be given a $25,000 annual exemption from the new tax, with the levy to apply on profits above that amount.

The 75 percent rate compares with a 95 percent tax imposed on World War II profits. Subsequently, a credit was given corporations, reducing the tax rate to 85 and one-half percent above average

Michigan Faces Idea Of Having No 'Governor'

DETROIT, Nov. 15—Michigan today faces the possibility of being without an officially-elected governor on Jan. 1, although Democratic Incumbent G. Mennen Williams now holds an official margin of 1,152 votes.

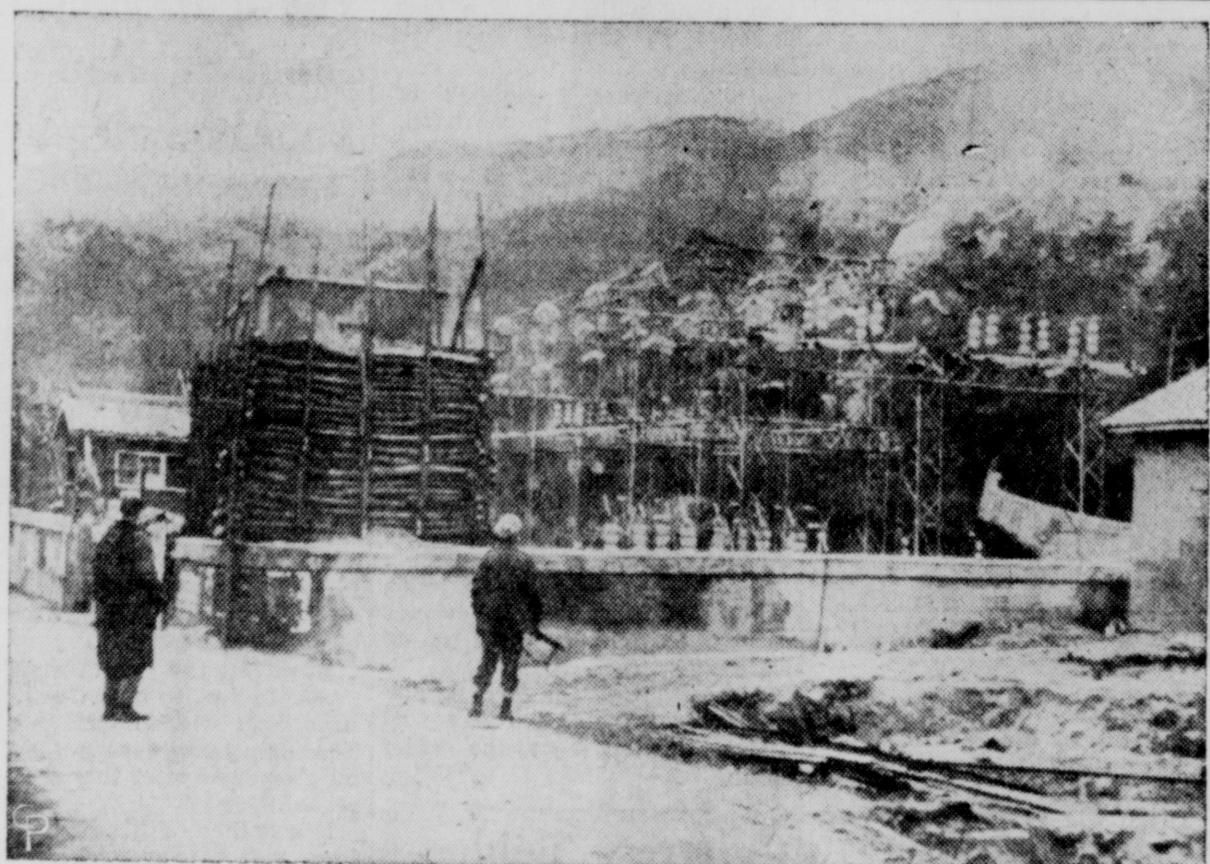

Young Governor Williams was proclaimed winner of the election held a week ago when the state's 83 county boards completed their official canvass yesterday.

The first unofficial report issued the day after the election gave the governorship to Republican Harry F. Kelly by a margin of 6,108 votes.

Williams was jubilant yesterday over the news of his apparent reelection, but Kelly indicated he has not given up the battle. The GOP candidate said he will petition for a statewide recount.

Election officials point out that a recount and court battles over the slim margin may extend into 1951, leaving the state without an official governor.

The Republicans have contended that the "temporary governor" should be Republican William C. Vandenberg of Holland, who won the lieutenant-governorship by more than 90,000 votes.

YULE PROGRAM IS PONDERED

City To Be Best-Decorated In State, Chamber Hoping

Circleville will be the best decorated town for miles around on Christmas if the Chamber of Commerce has its way.

Chamber members would like to pour $2,000 into decorating the town, concentrating on making the intersection of Court and Main streets a Christmas sight that would bring credit to the town.

To insure the erection of some decorative effects, the chamber decided Tuesday evening to underwrite $500 of the cost.

Decision on what type and style of decoration to spend the money on was left up to a committee composed of R. L. Brehmer and Joe Bell. Main hope for making this year's street dressing better than ever before, however, was pinned on a drive to solicit contributions from downtown merchants.

Each merchant in the downtown area will be contacted by a chamber member, asked to donate funds. At the same time the merchants will be asked to indicate their preferences on the matter of store hours during December.

THEY WILL be offered three plans:

1. To maintain store hours as they are at present.
2. To stay open from 9 a. m. to 9 p. m. on Wednesdays throughout December, and to remain open Wednesday, Thursday, Friday and Saturday nights during the week prior to Christmas which falls on a Monday.
3. To follow the last year's schedule of staying open Wednesday afternoon and every night during Christmas week.

The 14 chamber members present at the meeting in Court-Main restaurant discussed the possibility of having individual

Food Prices Drop Slightly

WASHINGTON, Nov. 15—A slight drop in retail food prices during the last two weeks of October was reported by the government today, the first such decline since August.

The Bureau of Labor Statistics, on the basis of a special survey of 50 foods in eight cities, said retail grocery costs dipped 0.4 percent between Oct. 15 and Oct. 30.

As a result of the general upward trend in living costs since the outbreak of the Korean war, however, the Bureau's retail food price index is still 1.6 percent higher than mid-June.

merchants erect Christmas trees in front of their stores. Trees would be purchased by the chamber.

Secretary John Magill said the chamber has about 50 strings of tree lights that could be used to decorate the trees.

The members expressed disappointment over the effectiveness of the plastic decorations erected last year.

Opinion was that the plastics were spread out too thinly, produced a shabby effect instead of the cheery, Christmas air expected.

It was also pointed out that local merchants who contributed to the purchase of the plastics were told they would not have to make further contributions.

They were told, according to chamber members, that the plastics, being permanent, would end the need for fund

Football Pool Said Financed By School Kids

CINCINNATI, Nov. 15—The search for backers of a football lottery based on Cincinnati school children's lunch money shifted today to Newport, Ky.

Leonard Goldstein, 20, of Cincinnati pleaded guilty to three charges of tending to cause delinquency yesterday in connection with the sale of the lottery tickets.

He told Juvenile Court Judge Charles W. Hoffman:

"I got the tickets from a man named Bill in Newport."

Judge Hoffman deferred sentence pending an investigation by the probation department.

Goldstein said he had sold 1,000 tickets in four weeks at prices ranging from 50 cents to one dollar. He said he got 30 percent of the proceeds.

At the time of his arrest Oct. 20, Goldstein said some school students used their lunch money to buy the lottery chances.

Bars Banned

WASHINGTON, Nov. 15—The National Production Authority today banned the construction of bars and all buildings where alcoholic liquors are to be sold for consumption. The order is effective immediately.

drives for Christmas decorations.

OTHER CHAMBER members, however, said that they, as merchants, had labored under no such illusion. They had expected to be approached for more funds during the Christmas season.

The chamber left decision on what to do with the plastic decorations up to the decorations committee. Brehmer said they would be used, but at lower heights than last year, and probably in front of business establishments.

Said President Leslie May:

"If we made a mistake with these things last year, let's rectify it this year."

Suggestions for decorating the intersection of Court and Main streets included the erection of Christmas trees on poles at each corner, with light-festooned laurel ropes strung canopy fashion from the center of the intersection to the corners. Above the traffic light in the center another large tree would be supported by guy wires.

The chamber's $500 will be used for this. If the $2,000 contribution goal is reached, the decorative scheme will be expanded to include crisscrossed laurel ropes over Court and Main streets. The ropes would be hung with colored lights.

In the discussion on store hours, a brand new chamber member pointed out that 14 members present out of a total membership of over 90 was hardly sufficient to set the closing rules for all the merchants in Circleville. He expressed a touch of unhappiness over the small turnout.

"I'm a newcomer," he said, "and when I came here this evening, I was expecting to meet at least 50 other merchants and businessmen. Instead I see only a handful."

He suggested that the chamber make an effort to get a larger attendance at the meetings, even, if necessary, "going to their homes and dragging them down here."

23 Feared Dead In Train Mishap

OSLO, Nov. 15—Twenty persons were feared killed today when an Oslo-bound express train hit a truck at Hjukseboe, on the south coast of Norway.

Six bodies were recovered soon after the crash and rescue workers reported "many" still trapped in the debris.

4th Ward, 1E Tally Is Sought

Retired Farmer Signs Petition

A request for a recount of votes on the Circleville school bond issue has been filed in Pickaway County board of elections by Walter Goodman of South Court street.

Goodman's request, signed by six voters asks for a recount of votes in Precinct 1E and the entire 4th Ward.

A meeting of the election board has been called for 9 a. m. Thursday to determine whether Goodman's notice was filed within a five-day period specified by law for the filing of such notices.

The notice was filed at 3:30 p. m. Tuesday, seven days after the election. But the seven days includes Sunday and a legal holiday, Armistice Day.

IT WAS REPORTED that the school board met Tuesday night to discuss the advisability of countering Goodman's attack by asking for a recount of votes in all precincts, decided to let the matter stand.

Representing Goodman, a retired farmer of 624 South Court street, in the action is Attorney Don Patterson of Adelphi.

Goodman gave the board of elections $10 for each of the five precincts he wants recounted. If he is correct in his contention that the count is wrong, he will get his $50 refunded. Otherwise, the county will use the $50 to pay cost of the recount.

The bond issue was the largest in the county during the recent election, calling for $475,000 for the Circleville physical education program.

The issue received just slightly more than the 55 percent of votes required for its passage.

Total for the issue was 1,953, and 1,472 against.

In the disputed precincts, the totals were as follows:

Television Stars Calling Strike

NEW YORK, Nov. 15—The AFL Television Authority declared today a strike will be called against the TV networks from coast to coast "probably within a day or two."

The authority, representing 25,000 TV performers, said a walkout will affect "everybody from Milton Berle and Arthur Godfrey down."

George Heller, executive secretary of the authority, said a walkout has been authorized against NBC, CBS, Dumont and the ABC networks and Station WOR-TV in New York after negotiations for a new agreement and pay increases broke down yesterday.

No Special Call Expected

WASHINGTON, Nov. 15—A White House source indicated today that President Truman has decided not to call Congress into special session before its scheduled return on Nov. 27.

The President will announce his decision at his weekly news conference tomorrow afternoon.

The White House source said that, due to the fact that the regular date for Congress to return is now only a week and a half away, there would be no point in calling the lawmakers back to Washington a week earlier.

Snyder estimated that the Treasury faces a $2 billion deficit for the current fiscal year ending next June 30. He estimated expenditures for this fiscal year at $45 billion and said revenue, including the "first installment" tax boost of $4.7 billion, would bring in $43 billion.

Snyder declared:

"Corporation profits for 1950 will establish a new record. It is now estimated that corporation profits before taxes for this year will total $37 billion, or $3 billion in excess of the peak year 1948."

"IN VIEW OF this earnings record, there can be little doubt that, if properly distributed, $4 billion of additional taxes would leave corporations, in the aggregate, with high earnings and a high rate of return on investment."

Snyder said that the national income has "jumped sharply" under the impact of the defense effort.

The secretary rejected suggestions for an increase in the normal corporation income tax in place of an excess profits levy. He stated that this would hit corporations which do not benefit directly from defense contracts as well as those that do.

Poll Officials Tell Mistake

COLUMBUS, Nov. 15—Six election officials of a Columbus south side precinct, charged with failing to remove numbered stubs from voting ballots, contend that they failed to read instructions.

Mrs. Mary Ritz of Columbus told the Franklin County board of elections at a hearing yesterday "there was no malicious intention at all. There was no harm meant."

The irregularity was spotted a few hours after the polls were opened. Eugene T. Spetnagel of Columbus told the elections board yesterday, "she started to put them (both stubs and ballots) into the ballot box. I told her it was my understanding the stubs came off, and she said, 'no, they stay on.'"

World Government Being Boomed

SPRINGFIELD, Nov. 15—A Yale professor and former British subject contends that world government "is the only ultimate for lasting peace."

Dr. Roland H. Bainton, author of "Here I Stand," a prize-winning biography of Martin Luther, told an audience last night at Wittenberg college, Springfield, that "world citizenship under a world government, a venture of faith, might be the practical victory we need."

Barn Levelled On Farm South Of Circleville

A barn on the Meinhardt Critch farm about three miles south of Circleville was completely destroyed by fire Tuesday night.

Circleville Fire Chief Talmer Wise said the blaze was reported about 9 p. m. He said that along with the barn from nine to 10 tons of hay was burned.

"There were a number of farm implements in the barn, but they were saved, all but a mowing machine," Wise reported.

The chief added that water pumped from a watering trough was used to save nearby garages and a double corn crib.

"How the thing started is a mystery," the chief said. "The state fire marshal's office is investigating it."

No one was injured in the blaze, nor was any livestock hurt, Wise continued.

"But," he said, "it sure lit up the countryside. It drew people for miles around and traffic on Route 23 stopped while drivers and passengers got out to watch."

Aid in getting the farm implements out of the barn was furnished by neighbors, the chief said.

Youth Admits Shooting Man To Aid Friend

MEDINA, Nov. 15—Gerald Killinger, the 17-year-old youth who said he killed Harold Mast, 23, because of his friendship for Max Amerman, is expected to resume the witness stand today.

The youth testified last yesterday, after the state rested its case, that he ambushed Mast on Oct. 5 to clear the way for Amerman, 27, who wanted to marry Mast's widow, Randi, 24. Amerman is to be tried separately.

Killinger denied that he shot Mast for money or a car. He said he did it because Amerman was good to him and treated him "like a brother."

However, the youth said he "woke up" when he learned that Amerman signed his Medina Township farm over to the dead man's widow after they were arrested.

It was then, Killinger told the jury, that "I realized the way things were, that he played me for a fall guy."

Earlier, Dr. E. H. Crawfis, superintendent of the Cleveland State Hospital, testified that he had examined Killinger and that he believed the youth to be insane.

Three Children Die In Flames

CINCINNATI, Nov. 15—Three small children burned to death when flames swept a third-floor apartment in Cincinnati.

Killed yesterday were Geraldine Howell, 3, and her sisters, Beverly, 2, and Gwendolyn, 10 months old.

The mother, Mrs. Manius Howell, and an older sister, Sarah, 15, were shopping at the time. Fire Marshal Alex Blackburn said matches were found in the bedding after the blaze.

Senator Raps State Department On Oil Deals

WASHINGTON, Nov. 15—A Senate Democrat criticized the State Department today for "deplorable" delay in failing to take early action against shipments of oil and gasoline to Communist China.

Sen. O'Connor, (D) Md., lashed out at what he called the department's "imprudent" policy in reporting that nearly 15 million gallons of U. S. oil and gasoline have been shipped to China since the Reds took control in September, 1949.

The senator, who heads a subcommittee investigating such shipments, said that 1,313,870 gallons came from the United States and 13,396,280 came from middle eastern production by American oil companies and their affiliates.

The shipments, he added, included 8,270,597 gallons of oil, 4,977,760 gallons of gasoline and 1,461,793 gallons of other petroleum products of strategic value.

The senator said that according to the oil companies, the great bulk of the products were shipped between Oct. 1, 1949, and June, 1950, when the companies agreed to refuse further shipments to Red China.

Patrol To Get Pay Increases

COLUMBUS, Nov. 15—State highway patrolmen have pay raises today, but they're all contingent on the 99th General Assembly which meets in January.

After nearly 60 men had resigned to take jobs with municipal police departments and other law enforcement jobs, the pay boosts were authorized by the Civil Service Commission as "emergencies."

The increases with old salaries in parenthesis are:

No Clemency Is Allowed

COLUMBUS, Nov. 15—Twenty-one-year-old Clark C. Hill of Medina, former Ohio State university student serving a life prison term for murder, will get no clemency from Governor Lausche.

The governor turned down Hill's request yesterday. Hill was convicted by a three-judge court in Medina County for the April 10, 1948, slaying of Jeanette Weimer, 18. Mercy was recommended and a life sentence therefore became mandatory.

The governor said that the petition for clemency was filed by Emile Reiss, Columbus attorney and self-styled "court of last resort."

Dog Said Only As Smart As His Master

Training a dog to be more than "best friend" was demonstrated to a group of local churchmen Tuesday evening.

Demonstrator was Ralph Wallace, officer for Pickaway County Humane Society. His "pupil" was Rex, a German police dog being trained for Howard Ater of Circleville.

Ater, a World War II veteran, who was seriously injured in action, will require a dog with more than the average amount of training.

Bound to a wheelchair most of the time, Ater is not interested in being required to exert much energy in chasing after the family pooch.

So Wallace was called in and Rex given to the local trainer. It was before the Men's Brotherhood of First EUB church that Wallace demonstrated what had been accomplished in only one day of training.

REX HAD LEARNED his first lessons well. At vocal command by Wallace, Rex would "sit," "stay," "crawl" and "come."

Wallace said it demonstrates his favorite saying: "A dog reflects directly the discipline of his master. Thus, an untrained dog shows an untrained master."

Wallace long has frowned at dogs which bark incessantly, pull at leash and misbehave in general.

He claims the dog is no worse than his owner. . . and if the dog barks and annoys the neighbors he is merely doing so because his master wants him to.

The humane society official snorts when he sees a dog on leash pulling the owner down the street. Says Wallace:

"That's just a case of the dog being smarter than his owner."

Truman Cancels Usual Morning Outdoor Walks

WASHINGTON, Nov. 15—President Truman has stopped his daily early morning walks, but the White House insisted today that the attempt to assassinate him last month is not the reason.

The White House contended that it is mere coincidence that the President has not taken his habitual early morning constitutional for two weeks.

The fact remains, however, that Mr. Truman has left Blair House for his pre-breakfast mile walk only once since the two fanatic Puerto Rican revolutionists attempted to shoot their way into Blair House and kill him.

White House attaches deny reports that the President, whose morning walks have been almost his sole recreative activity, had cancelled them on orders of the Secret Service.

Mr. Truman was up and out for his morning walk bright and early the day after the shooting affray in front of Blair House a little more than two weeks ago. Under heavy Secret Service guard, the President walked briskly from Blair House to the Washington Monument and returned.

Since that time, however, the nation's number one early morning walker has not been seen on Washington's downtown streets.

illegal possession of quail and hen pheasants was recalled.

A TOTAL OF 22 affidavits were filed against Beard, who remarked sadly:

"I used to be a home boy only."

Concerning the six quail in Beard's possession, Root remarked:

"It is known all over Ohio that efforts are being made to promote the quail bird. It is a beautiful bird. . . The fine is $200 and costs for each quail."

Working with Game Protector Francis on the rounding up of the game violators was Eugene McConaughy, game protector of Highland County.

After paying his fine, one of the hunters walked over to Francis.

"Would you tell me just one thing, please? How did you get out there so fast?" he asked plaintively.

The hunter sighed, then turned his back. Handing Francis his recovered permit, an Ohio license, he said, "Would you mind pinning this on my back?"

Francis complied, still grinning.

Walisa Denies Gambling Rap

Roy Walisa of Circleville pleaded innocent Tuesday when arraigned in Chillicothe in a gambling case.

Four men, who were arrested in the Ross County VFW Club, were each fined $25 and costs by Ross County Common Pleas Judge Howard Goldsberry. They were playing poker.

Through his attorney, Tom Renick of Circleville, Walisa pleaded innocent. His trial will be held Nov. 28. He is free on $300 bond.

Texas Gasoline Refinery Blows

PORT ARTHUR, Tex., Nov. 15—Four explosions tore through the Gulf gasoline refinery one mile southwest of Port Arthur early today and started a raging fire in the high pressure refinery division of the plant.

Three men were reported seriously injured. A Port Arthur fire official said the flames were brought under control after an hour's fight.

World's Women Await Chance, Expert Declares

CINCINNATI, Nov. 15—A world famous missionary declared today that at least 800 million illiterate women in the world are "waiting for their chance to rise out of degradation and ignorance and to lift their children up with them."

Dr. Frank C. Laubach, pioneer literacy expert, told the 2,000 delegates of the United Council of Church Women's assembly in Cincinnati that the "emancipation of womanhood is swiftly spreading."

He said the illiterate "are waiting for us here in America to hear and respond to their call." He added:

"If the women could see their own sex in those areas, millions of them, waiting, hoping, yearning to come up and bring their children up, you could never again go back to the comfortable lives in the midst of luxuries without making sure first that those women get their chance to help themselves."

Dr. Laubach explained that the task of creating literacy for the millions is "stupendous" and pointed out that "it needs to be done in 60 countries and 300 languages."

Clarence L. McKinsey, 727 South Ludlow Street, Dayton, Ohio, who is night supervisor of hospital attendants at the Ohio State Hospital in Dayton, says a man has trouble getting used to working nights and sleeping days. And if a man isn't getting the proper rest it not only makes him groggy on the job, but also makes him feel poorly the rest of the time. This will never happen to him again, says Mr. McKinsey—now that he is taking HADACOL. His system lacked those necessary Vitamins B1, B2, Iron, and Niacin, which HADACOL contains.

Here is Mr. McKinsey's own statement:

"Before I started taking HADACOL I had a great deal of trouble with a nervous stomach. I had an awful hard time sleeping—I would just roll and toss all night. It affected me during my working hours, too—I was restless and nervous all the time. My nerves were so jumpy that the least little thing would put me on edge. I was just beside myself in knowing what to do. Then I heard how other folks that were nervous and run down were being helped by HADACOL. I decided to try HADACOL. Now, after 10 bottles of HADACOL, I feel fine; in fact, I think so much of HADACOL I would walk 5 miles for a bottle of HADACOL—I'm not exaggerating. Why, the way I sleep and the appetite I have are marvelous. The best thing is that my nerves are calm as they can be. I just can't praise HADACOL enough."

Thousands Have Been Helped by HADACOL whose systems lacked Vitamins B1, B2, Iron, and Niacin. The HADACOL formula is so effective for stomach distress, certain nervous disorders, insomnia due to upset stomach, nagging aches and pains, and a general run-down condition when these troubles are caused by such deficiencies.

Give HADACOL A Chance . . . to help you, as it has helped thousands of others if you suffer such deficiencies. Remember, there are no substitutes for HADACOL. Always insist on the genuine HADACOL. No risk involved. Buy a bottle of HADACOL, either the trial size, $1.25, or the large family or hospital size, $3.50, and if HADACOL doesn't help you, you get your money back. If your druggist does not have HADACOL, order it direct from The LeBlanc Corporation, Lafayette, Louisiana. (C) 1950, The LeBlanc Corporation

Pitching Horseshoes

By BILLY ROSE

One of the actors I recently interviewed for my television show was a young fellow named Bill Ferguson.

"Haven't I seen you in something?" I asked.

"Still with the show?"

"No, I left it a few months ago to try my luck at television."

"Show business is a tough racket," I orated.

"I haven't found it so," said Bill. "Matter of fact, ever since I got to town it's been one good break after another. Incidentally, your friend, Dick Rodgers, was responsible for the first one."

"What did Richard do for you?" I asked.

"Well," said the youngster, "it started when Mr. Rodgers and

Mr. Hammerstein were holding auditions for the chorus and bit parts in 'South Pacific.' My wife—her stage name is Evelyn Colby—also does some singing and dancing, so we tried out for the show together. Only one of us, however, got picked—Evelyn."

"Doesn't sound like too good a beginning."

"It wasn't," said Bill "but we figured there wasn't any point moping about it—the important thing was not to be separated. So when the show went up to New Haven to break in, I went along with it and, as luck would have it, I landed a job as waiter in Casey's Chop House—the place on College Street across from the Shubert Theatre."

"It was the best thing that could have happened," the youngster went on, "because a couple of days before the opening who should come in and plunk himself down at one of my tables but Mr. Rodgers."

Quartet Held For Passing Bogus Money

PORTSMOUTH, Nov. 15—Two women and two men, one of them a former township peace officer, were held today to the federal grand jury on charges of passing counterfeit $10 bills in eight states.

Held under bonds of $5,000 each are Mrs. Eileen Adkins, waitress and mother of three; Mrs. Elsie Brown, 32; Lewis Judy, 42, a used car dealer, and Charles Vaughn, 51, former Scioto County constable and Rome marshal.

The foursome waived preliminary hearing yesterday when they appeared before U. S. Commissioner Laurence Kimble. Accused of distributing $10,000 worth of bogus bills in Ohio, Maryland, Illinois, Kentucky, Iowa, Virginia, West Virginia and Tennessee, the four will be taken to Cincinnati to face grand jury action.

Mrs. Adkins confessed her participation in the counterfeit ring last week, involving the other three. She said she was "tricked" into cashing a phony bill in Chicago and then the gang threatened to expose her if she backed out of the racket.

Judy, a former partner with Vaughn in a used furniture business in New Boston, was named as the leader. Judy admitted his part in the ring, but has failed to tell where he got the phony bills.

KINSEY'S MEN'S SHOP

"HE RECOGNIZED ME, and when he quizzed me about what I was doing in a waiter's get-up, I told him I had taken the job so as to be near my wife. The story seemed to tickle him, and when he went back to the theatre I understand he held up a rehearsal to repeat it to Oscar Hammerstein and Josh Logan, the director. An hour later the three of them came into the chop house looking for me, and the next morning I was on the stage of the Shubert learning the lyrics of 'There Is Nothing Like A Dame.'"

"Cute story," I said. "There's more to it," said Bill. "A columnist heard about what happened and wrote it up, and as a result I got a couple of television nibbles. Then the nicest thing of all happened. One night Margaret Truman came backstage, and after congratulating Pinza and Mary Martin she asked for the Bill Ferguson she had read about. You see, we went to the same high school in Independence, Missouri, and broke into the singing business together in the choir of the Baptist Church."

"Did your wife get to meet the President's daughter?"

"Not that evening," said the youngster, "but she did a few days later when Miss Truman came around to our apartment to see the new baby."

"It's been nice talking to you," I said, "but I'm afraid I can't use you on next week's show—I'm looking for someone to play a sad, miserable little man."

Teen Tips

With Uncle Sam's mailman come letters asking how to overcome painful shyness. . . how to make gay chatter instead of awkward silences, how to be friendly instead of self-conscious.

It takes a little effort, but you can do it. First: Always remember that you're just one of the group and that others have moments of shyness just as you do; they're too busy to notice your plight as much as you think. So forget yourself by putting your mind on what's cooking at the moment. You can think of just one thing at a time, so think resolutely about the dance, party, or whatever you're doing and you'll forget your shyness.

Second: Experts say that if you ACT in a certain manner, you'll FEEL that way. So act self-confident and gay as if you were having fun. . . and before you know it, you will be. This really works; try it!

Third: Boost your self-confidence by looking your best. You'll be less conscious of yourself if you know your hair looks neat, your face, hands and nails are clean, your clothes clean, brushed and right for the time and place. Girls don't primp just for fun; knowing their appearance is as "right" as they can makes it give them confidence.

Fourth: Increase your self-assurance by learning to do things well, then you'll have a feeling of fitting into the picture more comfortably and confidently wherever you are. Learn the games and sports that other teenagers enjoy. Take dancing lessons if you're not smooth on the dance floor. Ask a friend to teach you to bowl, play tennis or swim—or take lessons at little expense at the YWCA, if there's one near you. Practice for confidence!

For personality perk-ups to help increase your self-confidence send a stamped, self-addressed envelope to Elinor Williams at this paper.

MANY NEW VOLUMES LISTED

Book Week Is Now Being Observed By Library

Book Week is being observed in libraries, book stores and schools throughout the nation this week.

With the origin of Book Week in 1919 has come a special effort on the part of publishers and book men to make their stock of books and especially books for children of all ages more attractive, more entertaining, and of better content in story and theme.

Each year the illustrations of even the simplest text are more colorful and there is a great deal of competition among publishers to secure the more popular artists to illustrate their forth-coming books.

Circleville Public Library has on display many new books for all age groups, book week posters have been sent to the several schools of the city and the bookmobile, and teachers are being invited to bring their classes in to see the recent books. These books may be circulated right after Book Week has past.

Among the new things, animals of every-sort are a favorite subject, ranging from mice to elephants.

For the very small child just beginning to read, there are several new copies of old favorites, lovely colored primers and readers, "Come and See," "Police-men," "Where is Cubby Bear," "Who Are You," "Jack and Sue," "Here We Play," "Don and Peggy," "Five Little Finger Playmates," "Our School," "Trains Today," "Our Houses," and the somewhat more advanced "Cowboys," "Mr. Bear

Squash you flat," "Too Little Fire Engine," "Wheels and Noises," "Wonderful Plane Ride," and "Penny and Peter's Surprise."

CHILDREN OF THE lower elementary grades will also find their favorite Indians in stories they can read, "Navajo Indians," "Pueblo Indians" and "Indians of the Longhouse," in addition to the Red Feather already a favorite.

The fourth to seventh graders will probably enjoy "David Faragut—Boy Midshipman," by Long, "Woodrow Wilson—Boy President" by Helen Monsell, "Jungle Child," by Caroline Davis, a story of a tomboy growing up in a motherless home in India, "Taming of Giants" by Patricia Gordon provides a mouse-eye view of the world and humans and two very nice young ones who give him a home.

"Luck for Little Lihu," by May Justus is a heartening tale of a simple mountain people and the struggle of the main character to learn to read. "Squirrels of Willow Hill" is a friendly story of a small squirrel that fell from its nest. He was found by a Mrs. McGinty, and she and her husband fed the little animal and made him at home. He even had his own Christmas tree. In the spring he was taken back to play with the other squirrels in the park.

A few of the books for high school readers include the adventure-story "Showdown," by Longstreth, with a plane crash in the wilderness as its climax.

"The Lamp is Heavy," by Sheila Russell is a story of the personal experiences of nurse-in-training. Susan is as real as your neighbor and the drawings add vigor and flavor to the story.

There is a great feel of natural interest in the nursing story and this book is one of the best.

"Duke of the Bruins," by Roger Treat, "Shortstop Shadow," by Howard Brier, "Ross Duncan at Bataan," by Pashko, "Crosswind Canyon," by Margaret Hubbard, "Blood Bay Colt," by James Farley, De Leeuw's "Hawthorne House," "Hold That Line," by Archibald, "Nose for Trouble," by Kellogg, and "It Might Be You," are specially designed for the High School reader.

SOME OF THE most enchanting picture books for the read-to-me age are "Hide Away Ducklings," "Flicka, Ricka, Dicka and the Three Kittens," "Tommy Tittlemouse," "Susan's Bears," in which a grown up cousin teaches little Susan to overcome her fear of the four bears "that lived behind the bedroom door," "Where's the Bunny," by Carroll, Dr. Seuss's "If I Ran the Zoo," "Patsy and the Pup," by Hilda Von Stockum, "Blaze Finds the Trail," by Anderson, "Star Spangled Banner," by Aulaire, and Ipcar's "One Horse Farm."

All of these are to be found in both city library and county collection.

Bebopper Crew Banned From Catholic Schools

MILWAUKEE, Nov. 15—Teen-age beboppers—members of a club whose rules allegedly required sexual intercourse, theft and playing hockey from church—have been banned from all Catholic schools in the Milwaukee archdiocese.

Msgr. Edmund J. Goebel, superintendent of the archdiocese's 49 elementary and high schools, issued the order yesterday with the approval of Archbishop Moses Killey.

The order said beboppers can be detected among the schools' 10,000 pupils "by their dress, freakish haircuts, gang threats and abuse, unorthodox conduct and other marks and behavior."

Girl beboppers customarily wear a long tight dress or an Army field jacket and fatigue pants, babushka and saddle shoes. The mark of the boy bebopper is flamboyant drape pants, sport jackets in such colors as lavender and chartreuse, and a ducktail haircut.

The order referred to "recent adverse publicity" on beboppers—apparently a reference to a series of articles in the Milwaukee Sentinel dealing with an alleged inner ring of beboppers.

THE SENTINEL articles included charges made by two former bebop girls, now in an institution, who said they belonged to a clique of "real" bebops who were required to steal at least one skirt a month, miss church at least once a month, and have sexual intercourse.

Msgr. Goebel said the order calling for the expulsion of all students who violate the bebop ban was issued as a result of an investigation by archdiocesan school authorities and home and school associations.

Looking Ahead

By George Benson
President
Harding College

For generations life insurance has been a mainstay of economic protection for the American family. It still is one of the most important security props in most American homes. Today three out of every four families own life insurance through the investment of their savings with private insurance companies.

In comparatively recent years the pension idea mushroomed and now approximately 50,000,000 workers are participants in the federal government's Old Age and Survivors Insurance ("Social Security") program through which a fixed monthly pension is paid at retirement age.

Thus these two sources—private insurance and public "Social Security"—constitute primary bulwarks of economic security for the homes of America. But day by day, week by week, both are being sabotaged by inflation. Every day the inflation continues the holders of $70,000,000 insurance policies with a face value of $214,000,000,000 are being robbed, their future made less secure. Every day it continues, these people are seeing this promised "security" evaporate with the declining value of the dollar.

THE $100 MONTHLY old age pension of today may be so sabotaged in purchasing power by the inflation within a few years that it wouldn't pay a week's grocery bill for a retired man and his wife. So long as inflation continues, pensioned "security," life insurance "security" and savings account "security" can only be a mirage. The $100 pension of 1939 has now dropped to $56 worth of purchasing power for food and clothes and the decline continues.

The 1950 Congress doubled old age pension payments under the "Social Security" program but the increase in dollars barely took care of the loss to inflation during the last 10 years.

Congress didn't do anything about the "security" loss sustained by the nearly 40,000,000 families who have invested over the years in insurance policies.

The insurance owned by these families has lost about $100,000,000,000 in purchasing power due to inflation. Hardly anybody has escaped injury.

What inflation has done to such savings is strikingly illustrated by the plight of my friend Joe. He's a salaried man. For 20 years he denied his family many wished-for things in order to pay for a 6-unit apartment building which he felt would provide ample "security." In 1939 he made the last payment.

THEN HE GOT an offer of $14,800 for the property. To Joe, that much cash seemed a small fortune. He sold and put the money in a savings account to await the day when he would buy another investment property. The money's still in the bank. Today it would scarcely pay the down payment on the apartment building Joe sold 11 years ago—priced now, in inflation-hit dollars, at $45,000.

Joe's salary is another illustration of the damages of inflation. He's had four substantial raises since 1940 but his present salary actually has only five percent more purchasing power, in food and clothing, than his much lower salary had in 1940. The industrial wage earner has probably had twice as many raises; his income has increased about 150 percent since 1940. But inflation has hit wages so heavily, the Bureau of Labor Statistics reports that in actual purchasing power the weekly income of the average industrial worker has increased by only $9.22 since 1940.

That's about enough to buy an average pair of shoes—with our cheap 1950 dollars.

Obviously higher wages and salaries cannot bring a permanent improvement in living standards so long as we continue to have inflation. But if inflation can be halted and wages and salaries should thereafter be based on a rising productivity, then permanent, wholesome improvement in the American living standard can be made.

Our costly preparations for full-scale war will bring serious new inflation pressures to bear unless strong measures are applied immediately in the management of federal government finances. Every person has a stake: his pocket book is involved; and, at longer range the stability and strength of our nation. Every congressman and every Federal official knows what must be done to stem inflation. They will take the necessary action when sufficient people ask them to do so. So far sufficient people haven't. Have you?

Democrat Solon Says 'Millions' Spent For Taft

WASHINGTON, Nov. 15—Democratic charges that the victory of Sen. Taft in Ohio was bought with "millions" of dollars were aired today on Capitol Hill.

The charges were made by Rep. Kirwan, (D) Ohio, chairman of the Democratic Congressional Campaign Committee, who said that Taft supporters "spent ten times more than the Democrats."

Kirwan denied that the Democratic organization in Ohio "knifed" its own candidate, Joseph T. Ferguson.

The Democratic leader said that Taft won by a 430,000-vote majority because (1) the Republicans spent more money than the Democrats, (2) all but a handful of newspapers supported Taft and (3) thousands of Democrats did not vote.

The Youngstown Democrat cited the use of lavish funds by

Big CIO Union Finally Agrees With Sen. Taft

WASHINGTON, Nov. 15—A big CIO union has come right out in favor of something proposed by Sen. Taft, (R) Ohio!

Taft has been the particular and prime political target of organized labor leaders since he co-authored the Taft-Hartley Act in the 80th Congress. The CIO, the Republicans as the main reason for Taft's victory.

Kirwan stated:

"The American dollar speaks all over the country and it certainly spoke in Ohio. They dumped them in there by the millions. They spent ten times more than the Democrats."

"They had practically all the newspapers on their side and all the billboards. They were way ahead on publicity and they did a good job of getting their vote out. We didn't."

the AFL and the railroad brotherhoods combined as never before in a spectacularly unsuccessful campaign to defeat him in last week's Ohio election.

But now Isadore Katz, general manager for the CIO Textile Workers Union, comes out in support of Taft's proposed amendments to his own law. Katz said:

"We support the Taft amendment as far as it goes. We are satisfied from Sen. Taft's statements that he is willing to amend the law. The Taft amendments would be helpful."

Taft last year proposed 28 amendments to the Taft-Hartley law to make it more workable, and, Taft maintained, fairer to both employer and employee. The amendments passed the Senate but died in the House.

Mrs. 'Bugs' Baer Dies In Campaign

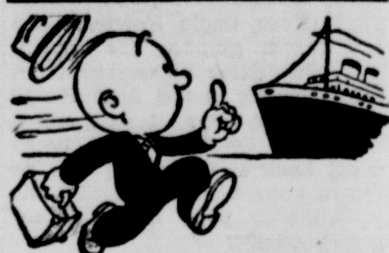

NEW YORK, Nov. 15—Mrs. Arthur "Bugs" Baer, who had dedicated the last five years of her "borrowed time" to a ceaseless and magnificent fund-raising effort to combat heart disease, died of the malady early yesterday.

Louise Baer, a former Folies girl who had married the celebrated humorist and settled down to a life as wife and mother, was stricken shortly before midnight Sunday. The lovely lady never emerged from unconsciousness.

FOR HIGH COMPRESSION... IT'S THE "ROCKET"!

Maybe you're ready—like we are—for a little brass-tacks talk about high-compression. Since Oldsmobile introduced the "Rocket" Engine two years ago, seems like everybody claims "high-compression"—but nobody explains it. The phrase simply means squeezing the gasoline into a smaller space before exploding it. This gets more power out of the same amount of fuel. But the engine must be designed for high-compression all the way through to assure smooth, quiet, gas-saving performance. The "Rocket" is 100% high-compression—from the crankshaft out. And the lowest-priced "Rocket" Engine car is Oldsmobile's "88." Makes good sense to try it soon—doesn't it?

FARM POLICY RESCUE
ANOTHER category in which the federal government can lop off some of its huge domestic expenditures is in the farm price support field.

Last February the government had 563,- 000,000 bushels of corn impounded, all of which was purchased with tax money. That huge hoard has slipped back to 380,000,000 bushels. Nearly all of the 2,639,000 bales of cotton which the government owned have been reclaimed by growers. Loan wheat, at a towering 324,000,000 bushel total in government warehouses last February, has slid back to 75,000,000 bushels.

The farm planners were on a spot. They had applied high farm price guarantees and didn't have the political honesty to keep production down near consumption level, with allowance only for safe reserves. Instead the reserves were piled up to unmanageable proportions. Now the war has taken them off the hook for the time being.

port levels and the farmers simply paid off their loans and took their crops back. They can sell in the open market at a higher figure than they could realize by defaulting on the loans.

It will not be difficult for the government to get back in the same rut, though. Winter wheat farmers are planting unrestrictedly in a favorable growing season, which may result in a tremendous crop next year. If the war doesn't continue to grow and grow and grow, the taxpayers will be called upon to buy mountains of wheat, to be stored until it spoils.

That, from whatever angle it is viewed, does not seem to be a fair deal for the taxpayers.

CANDIDATES ON TV
POLITICAL candidates who once regarded radio as a 20th Century boon are now convinced that there's nothing like television—particularly the candidates who are telegenic.

This most recent campaign clearly indicated that television will do a job for a candidate who looks well on the screen and who can talk without too many notes in front of him.

Of course television is much more expensive than radio—by the half hour or quarter hour—but the candidates feel it pays off. The people not only hear the candidates but see them. Governor Dewey himself in New York went on a TV marathon as a convinced advocate of television.

We can see the campaign pattern shaping up in 1952—more television, less radio, and the candidates taking lessons in how to appear on television and impress the people.

These Days

On October 27, 1950, Malcolm Jasper of Topeka, Kans., wrote me most interestingly on the United Nations.

I want to quote two paragraphs from his letter:

"I feel it my duty to say that I for one object to the ideas expressed in the column.
I object because in my opinion these ideas lessen the chances for a just world peace and equitable world harmony.

"In my opinion a strengthened and representative United Nations is our best hope for attaining the ideals mentioned above.
To me the UN means that perhaps my boy and other people's children may be spared from world battle. Of course the UN and all its broad organization means more than just the absence of war, but that I think is what most people are hoping it can bring about. It therefore seems to me that the flag of the United Nations is a flag symbolizing the brotherhood of the world. It therefore deserves and requires greater allegiance than our beloved national flag."

We can start out by admitting that the objective of the United Nations is a "just world peace and equitable world harmony." That also was the objective of the League of Nations, of the Hague Tribunal and other efforts throughout history.

So we shall pass over the objectives as laudable and go forward to reality.

There is still no evidence that the United Nations can be an instrument for the attainment of world peace. At best, it is a parliament of nations, among whom a really warring nations. At this moment, five of the United Nations, Russia, Poland, Czechoslovakia, Ukraine and Byelorussia (White Russia), are at war with the other members of the United Nations. To this group, we must add Soviet China and Soviet Korea and other Soviet countries in Europe. This imperialistic body of nations, centrally directed from the Kremlin, controls 800 million people—nearly one-third of the human race.

When we speak of the United Nations, we speak not of a building or a government but of this parliament of nations, which includes the above enemies of peace in our times.

It is not as simple as Mr. Jasper suggests. We are at the moment of an historic challenge by an empire, taking advantage of the hard times which have beset the world as a result of two wars and a deep, universal economic depression. Should the Slavic-Mongol empire conquer Asia, the United Nations will give way to two blocs of nations:

1. The Federation of Soviet Republics;
2. The Christian nations of which the North Atlantic Alliance will be the core.

Mr. Jasper says:
"To me the UN means that perhaps my boy and other people's children may be spared from world battle."

That could not be said with any sense of realism on Oct. 27, 1950. At that time, the United States had already reported 27,610 casualties in the Korean war—and since then the number has increased greatly. In fact, since June 25, the United States has again been put on a war footing, including conscription, priorities and mounting debt.

It is now within prospect that General MacArthur's American Army will soon have to fight in French Indo-China and if the Soviet Chinese army marches through Tibet to Nepal, India will be imperiled and will plead for aid. Simultaneously, the armies of the North Atlantic Alliance coun-

LOOK OUT for LIZA

By FAITH BALDWIN

CHAPTER TWENTY-THREE
AT LUNCH, "For a little thing, you eat a lot," Michael remarked.
"I enjoy eating," Liza replied reasonably. "Also, it sustains life."
"It's very expensive, the way you do it."

"I shall pay for it, then."
"Don't be ridiculous."
"What distresses you, Michael?"
"I am not distressed."
"It is the brush-off?" she inquired. "But that is what I promised you. You can't have it your way. Patty wouldn't brush off. So you must be. And by her. In this way, she retains her pride, and you have your freedom back, un-threatened."

He said gloomily, "I miss her cooking."

Liza sighed. "My friend, make up your mind. If her cooking is so important, rush back to her, entreat her pardon, and marry her as soon as you can procure the necessary papers."

Michael grinned. He took off his glasses, wiped them, and replaced them. He said, "Okay, so my male vanity is wounded."

"It need not be," said Liza, her speech crackling with celery. She looked about her, at the open-air cave, the awnings, the umbrellas.
"This is really enchanting."
"Stick to my vanity. Why not?"
"You have but to inform Patty that the things I told her about you were fabrications."

"What things? Don't think I haven't known that you gave her an earful. But of what?"

She told him, beginning, "When a week ago Monday night, we repaired to the powder room, your Patty and I . . ."

He listened, speechless. When he found his voice, he said, "My poor Patty."
"I know. I'm truly sorry, Michael, about that. But I had to give you a background. She's from Iowa and believes in heredity."

"What has being from Iowa to do with it?"

"I don't know. Did you know she was from Iowa?"

"Yes, of course. I knew everything about her."

"Without doubt," said Liza, applying herself to a mixed green salad and remarking that the dressing was a trifle too sharp.

"Not in the sense you think, wretched woman."

"I did not think that, not after meeting Patty." She looked at him reproachfully. "A nice girl," she said, "please pass the celery . . ."

and added, "far too good for you."

as it happens." She cracked some more. Then she said, "So when we had tea I told her about your uncle Fowler, who had to be put away—"

"I haven't an uncle Fowler," he said, aghast. "I haven't even an uncle!"

"No? Your uncle Fowler," she said, "was a genius. He was a writer. But never recovered from his experiences in the first World war. In those days, it was called shell shock. On his return home he went back to the newspaper he edited in your home town—By the way, what is your home town?"

"I was born in New York City, Borough of Manhattan."

"Oh. Well, possibly, I said, his home town. He wrote with great brilliance, but became more and more despondent. When on one and the same day subscribers objected to his editorial on the local political situation and a proof reader omitted quotation marks, he set fire to the office, went home, and threatened his wife, with a Luger."

"Liza, you are making this up!"

"Of course, unless you really have an uncle Fowler."

"I mean, you're making it up that you made it up."

"Perhaps I didn't put it quite so bluntly," admitted Liza, "but I did convey a suggestion of insanity, on your mother's side of the family."

"Merciful heavens!" said Michael.

She said, "Your vanity will recover. Meantime you are free.
Now, as to the other part of our bargain."

"What bargain?" he said warily.

"You remember, quite clearly.
We will have dinner one night soon. You and I, and several of your friends. You have friends, other than Bill?"

"Numerous. Most of them are married, or frustrated, or too trusting to be exposed to you, Liza."

She said, "After I thought it over I came to the conclusion that you were not going to prove helpful. I suppose I can manage alone."

"You'll manage."

She said piously, "So far, no prospects. This time, with Hiram Mason driving me . . ."

"Well?"

She said, "I do not like him. He is a stuffed shirt. And fancies he would like to have an affair with me."

Michael started violently. "Did he make a pass at you?" he demanded.

Inside WASHINGTON

MARCH OF EVENTS

Iran Next on Soviet Nation Choice Morsel
Aggression Timetable? Thanks to Oil Wealth

WASHINGTON—Iran, land of oil, may be the next international target on the timetable of Russia's striking hammer and sickle.

The Soviet's desire to "annex" her southern Middle Eastern neighbor can be traced to two strong elements: "Black Gold" that flows from Iranian wells, and Iran's strategic location.

Russia, herself, does not have enough oil to keep her machines of war running at full pitch over a prolonged period. Across the border in Iran are the bulk of the world's known oil reserves, with an estimated 700,000 barrels of oil being turned out daily, and virtually all of it going to the West. Control of Iran would both give Russia a needed oil supply, and cut off from a major political foe—the West—a supply of fuel.

Iran's strategic importance lies in her location along the Persian Gulf and the Gulf of Oman, gateways to the Arabian sea, and warm water ports.
Both have been objectives of a power-hungry
Russia ever since the days of Peter the Great.

Frustrated by Iran's pro-Western attitude, that makes these objectives impossible, Russia has turned anti-Iran. Radio Moscow broadcasts a daily course of anti-Iranian propaganda, a sure-fire indication that the Kremlin's eye might be preparing a possible whammy for the land of Iran.

Radio Moscow's siren voice frequently links
into sharp-pronged, anti-government attacks beamed into Iran's cities.
For example, when the sisters of the shah of Iran, Mohammed Reza Pohlevi, married an American, Radio Moscow intoned, "This is a shameless marriage" . . . disregarding national customs . . . and an instance where a ruler "offers the imperialist Americans his own sister."

Teheran, capital of Iran, with Washington, and these links are turned into sharp-pronged, anti-government attacks beamed into Iran's cities.

For example, when the sisters of the shah of Iran, Mohammed Reza Pohlevi, married an American, Radio Moscow intoned, "This is a shameless marriage" . . . disregarding national customs . . . and an instance where a ruler "offers the imperialist Americans his own sister."

Teheran, capital of Iran, with Washington, and these links are turned into sharp-pronged, anti-government attacks beamed into Iran's cities.

Again, when Gen. Lawton Collins, United States Army chief of staff, visited Iran as part of this nation's program to aid countries seeking to ward off political communism, Radio Moscow chanted Teheran was giving Washington secret military bases and turning its oil well over to Wall Street.

Moscow follows up its propaganda with official action. After the Collins visit, an official protest was made to the shah on grounds the Americans were establishing bases. Retorted the shah: "Tell it to the United Nations"; a reference to the UN action of 1946 when Russia failed to secure control over Iran.

However, the Soviets haven't stopped planning. It is said the Kremlin has instructed Marshal Bagramian, in charge of all Russian forces in the southern section of the land, to blueprint the invasion of Iran.
At the same time, Russian "Trojan-Horse" tactics have been stepped up. The Soviets have increased the Teheran embassy staff to over 200. Also, the Tudeh party is reported under control of Moscow's agents, and although the party has gone underground, it is putting out a pro-Russian weekly newspaper.

Early this year, the Soviets doubled their radio time allotted to Iran, with more than 10 hours a day being devoted to propaganda beamed to the 100,000 sets in Iran. The Russians stress the country's poverty, diseases, illiteracy; the plight of the workers who can not organize and the fact that the landlords and money lenders hold life-and-death power over tenants and debtors.

To offset Radio Moscow, Radio Teheran relays the Voice of America, but this is less than an hour a day; a highly unfavorable ratio.

● BUSY CONGRESS—The post-election session of Congress will have more bills rained on its head than it could possibly dispose of in its brief three weeks.

An excess profits tax, Hawaiian and Alaskan statehood, draft act amendments and possibly a new 10-billion-dollar defense appropriation are some of the major issues that may face the "lame duck" Congress.

In addition, the Senate was investigating committee and the crime probers plan full schedules.

Gen. George C. Marshall probably will be the most sought after witness. He became Defense secretary just as Congress quit for its election recess and the session reconvening next month will be the first opportunity for committees to quiz him.

have more bills rained on its head than it could possibly dispose of in its brief three weeks.

Varied Awards Are Presented

Fifty-five persons were present at the annual trophy dinner of Pickaway Country Club held in the clubhouse Sunday evening.

F. O. Patrick, club president, was master of ceremonies.

Guests seated at small tables heard speeches by Mrs. Larry Athey, women's golf chairman; William Goodchild, men's golf chairman; and Ed Amey, club manager and pro.

Patrick first awarded trophies to the women champions. Mrs. Herbert Eshelman received the trophy as the club's woman champion.

Mrs. Larry Athey received trophy for first flight. Mrs. Harold Hott for second and Mrs. George Speakman for third.

Receiving a trophy as winner in the ringer tournament was Mrs. Frank Wantz. The club handicap tournament trophy was awarded to Mrs. William Steele.

Verlin Blankenship received the men's club championship trophy. Trophy for first flight went to Dr. Walter Heine, Dwight Steele second, William Steele third, D. J. Carpenter fourth and to Walter Heine, fifth.

Robert Friece won the men's ringer tournament award. Joe Bell received trophies for both the Dr. C. G. Stewart and the fourth-of-July handicap tournaments.

Dan Musser received the junior membership handicap tournament award.

Harold Hott was awarded a special trophy as hole-in-one winner July 26, 1950.

Pickaway Country Club women presented a white nylon sweater to Mrs. Athey in recognition of her service as golf chairman. William Goodchild, men's golf chairman, received a golf shirt as gift from the men in the club.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Reid, social chairmen, were presented with a lamp by club members.

Jackson PTS Set To Aid Needy

At the Jackson Township Parent-Teacher Society meeting, recently, Mrs. Roloff Wolford, president, appointed a committee to arrange for a Christmas basket for a needy family.

Mrs. Charles Neff is chairman. Assisting her will be Mrs. George Fischer and Mrs. Ned Walker.

Mrs. Jacob Conrad, program chairman, presented the following entertainers: Mary Krimmel in a piano solo; Willard Dudleson in two readings, Mrs. Paul Thompson in a piano solo and Jackson high school girls chorus and junior girls glee club.

Refreshments were served to the group by a committee headed by Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Krimmel.

Thanksgiving Day Story Told To DUV Group Meet

The story of Thanksgiving Day as a national holiday was given by Mrs. James Carpenter at a recent meeting of Past Presidents Club of Daughters of the Union Veterans.

The article Mrs. Carpenter read concerned Sarah Joseph Hale, one of America's first woman editors and her "36-year fight for unification."

Mrs. James Trimmer presented an Armistice Day article and Mrs. Trimmer read a "Prayer for Our Country at Thanksgiving."

Group singing was also included in the program prepared by Mrs. E. S. Neuding and Mrs. N. E. Coffland.

Mrs. E. L. Tolbert, hostess, served a picnic lunch to her guests. Assisting her was Mrs. N. E. Coffland.

The Misses Laura and Emma Mader will entertain the group at its Christmas meeting.

Kumler-Campbell Marriage Told

Mr. and Mrs. Jess Pearl of Pataskala, have announced the marriage of their daughter, Doris Poff Kumler, to James Wiley Campbell, son of Mrs. James Wiley Campbell of Circleville, and the late Mr. Campbell.

The double ring ceremony was solemnized Saturday in Lancaster First Methodist church by the Rev. George Herd. Attendees for the couple were Mr. and Mrs. Larkin C. Durdin of Lancaster.

The bride has been associated with a Lancaster bank. Mr. Campbell represents the Cincinnati regional office of Prudential Insurance Co. He is a graduate of Bliss Business College and Ohio State university.

After a wedding trip through the South, the couple will reside in Lancaster.

Correction

The wedding of Miss Margaret Barnet and Cpl. Darrell Court-right took place in New Cumberland, Pa., Oct. 10 instead of Nov. 10 as erroneously reported in The Circleville Herald Monday.

By J. C. Oestreich
INS Foreign Director

Possibility of an early new meeting of the Big Four Council of Foreign Ministers to grapple with mounting world problems receded today despite statements both by East and West that such a conference is desirable.

British Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin has put the latest damper on the proposal. He told the House of Commons that Britain is always ready to participate in a "sincere attempt to end world tension."

But he said that the latest Soviet proposal for such a meeting, made public after a meeting of Russian and satellite foreign ministers in Prague, "does not afford an adequate basis for dealing with these great problems."

Western rejection of the Russian suggestion was anticipated from the outset.

The Prague statement was essentially a repetition of the Soviet propaganda line on Germany.

It inferentially again accused the Western Powers of transforming Germany into an armed garrison and restoring her military might.

MORE IMPORTANT, it completely sidestepped the persistent Allied demand that agreement on free elections for all of Germany must precede four-power negotiations.

The Bevin statement is likely to come as a disappointment to tries are being organized, presumably under General Eisenhower, to take up the battle when it reaches Europe.

In a word, it is impossible at this moment to assume that our sons are safe because of the existence of the United Nations. They are actually being mobilized for war.

The United Nations Organization, in this respect, is incapable of maintaining the peace as long as the initiative for peace or war remains with the Soviet empire, which is so situated geographically and so organized politically that it can, on a 7,000-mile front, weary other nations by costly local wars.

So we come to Mr. Jasper's statement that the UN flag "deserves and requires greater allegiance than our beloved national flag."

Actually, the United Nations flag deserves no allegiance, for the United Nations is not a country or a state, or a government; it is a parliament of the nations who maintain it.

Thus far, American soldiers fight for it under an American commander-in-chief, using American equipment paid for by the American taxpayer.

At one time as many as six kinds of reapers were manufactured in Stark County.

$2,500 Damages Asked In Farm Operation Suit

A suit asking $2,500 damages and appointment of a receiver in a partnership involving the operation of a 205-acre farm in Muhlenberg Township has been filed in Pickaway County common pleas court.

The suit was started by Vona Corkwell of Mt. Sterling against Francis Dean of Williamsport Route 1.

Plaintiff claims she entered into a contract with Dean for operation of the farm under the equal share grain livestock plan.

Her petition claims the defendant breached the contract by failing to haul all the manure, failing to keep and maintain inside fences and failing to devote all his time to conducting the farm operation. This, plaintiff claims, caused $2,500 damages to herself and the farm.

Plaintiff claims the defendant disposed of jointly owned property without her knowledge or consent, and failed to account for the proceeds until forced to do so by the plaintiff.

PLAINTIFF ALSO claims the defendant refuses to make a proper division of the jointly owned property, but threatens to remove it beyond the jurisdiction of the court.

She states the jointly owned property is in danger of being lost, removed or materially injured unless a receiver is appointed.

Plaintiff asks the court for the $2,500 judgment, appointment of a receiver to preserve the joint assets, for an accounting and dissolution of business relationship between the parties, for determination of ownership of any property in dispute and for an injunction to prevent the defendant from disposing or removing property or from interfering with the receiver.

Nation's Hens Set New Record

WASHINGTON, Nov. 15 — The Agriculture Department says that the nation's barnyard queens shattered every October egg-laying record on the books last month.

Farm flocks in October laid four billion, 14 million eggs, six percent more than October a year ago and 37 percent better than the average.

The nation's hens have been pushing production pretty hard all year. During the first 10 months of this year they laid 51 billion, 255 million eggs, or seven percent more than in the first 10 months last year.

County's '48 Milk, Egg Output Cited

Pickaway Below State Average

Dairy farmers in Pickaway County were producing 15.2 pounds of milk per day per cow in November, 1948, according to a report from the Ohio Agricultural Experiment Station in Wooster.

This was one pound less than the state milk production figure of 16.2 pounds per day per cow.

During 1948, the report continued, Ohio farm flocks produced 2,599,000,000 chicken eggs, of which 320 million were consumed in farm households, 2,275 million sold from the farm at an average price of 47.4 cents per dozen.

The value of eggs consumed in farm households was $12,640,000, and of eggs sold from the farms, $89,862,000. The rate of lay per layer on hand during the year was 177.

The report gave a preliminary estimate of the number of chickens on Ohio farms during 1949. Total number was 18,409,000, of which 5,654,000 were hens, 11,781,000 pullets and 974,000 other chickens.

The report said that in 1949 there were 1,025,000 turkeys on Ohio farms, of which 988,000 were sold at an average price of 47.9 cents per pound. The average liveweight per bird was 17.5 pounds. Value of the sales was $8,282,000.

County's Army Reserve Brass Getting Hikes

A series of promotions of Pickaway County Army Reserve officers has been started.

First promotion has been made to William D. Radcliff of Williamsport, raising him from major to lieutenant colonel. As a civilian, he is judge of common pleas court here.

Radcliff is chief of the legal division of the 9242 Transportation Central Procurement Office, a unit that would be concerned with the making and handling of military contracts in the event of war, according to Major Frederick C. Bott of Fort Hayes, Columbus.

Major Bott said other promotions for Pickaway County reserve officers are in the offing. "We are very pleased with the Pickaway County group," he said. "They have cooperated extremely well in the organization of reserve units."

Kentucky Lad Thanked For Aid To 'Voice'

CINCINNATI, Nov. 15—A Kentucky 10-year-old had the official appreciation of the State Department today for $2 sent in to "help improve the Voice Of America."

The $2 were mailed to the Crosley Broadcasting Corp. at Cincinnati by young Jan Ringo of Erlanger, Ky., who said he was "interested in radio and television" and wanted to aid the "Voice."

Crosley turned the letter over to the State Department and Edward Barrett, assistant secretary of department public affairs, sent Jan this reply:

"Speaking for all of us who work for the Voice Of America, I want you to know how much we appreciate what you have done."

"Unfortunately, Jan, we are required by law to turn that money over to the U. S. Treasury, but we want you to know we appreciate your spirit even more than your contribution."

Ralph Nutt and daughter Mary Ann of Mt. Sterling.

Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Orihood and family had as their Friday evening guests Mr. and Mrs. Earl Armentrout and daughter Jean.

Mr. and Mrs. Al Teegardin and family of Mt. Sterling had as their Sunday evening guests Mr. and Mrs. Wendell Evans.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Morris and daughter Joann, Mr. and Mrs. Forest Morris, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Morris, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Morris, and Mr. and Mrs. Harry Irvin of Dayton and Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Stephenson of Washington C. H., attended the funeral of Mr. Don Morris at Orient church Thursday afternoon and burial at Galena.

Rent Control Extender Asked

WASHINGTON, Nov. 15 — The administration plans today to press for extension of the rent control law beyond Dec. 31, despite a prediction by Sen. Taft, (R) Ohio, that nothing will be done before next year.

A reliable Capitol Hill source said that although President Truman has little hope of getting a long-term rent bill through the "lame duck" Congress due to meet this month, pressure will be applied for a resolution extending the present law at least 60 days.

Under the present law, federal rent controls will die Dec. 31 unless individual communities ask the government to continue them for another six months.

Defense Cites 'Brain Waves'

PICTON, Ont., Nov. 15—Electrical measurements of human brain waves were placed on the record in a Canadian court for the first time today in the murder trial of James Fosbraey.

Dr. Dennis White of Kingston General hospital, a witness for the defense, testified that the measurements revealed "an abnormality which would lower Fosbraey's resistance to anti-social impulses."

Fosbraey, 28, is accused of stabbing his estranged wife to death a year ago when he suspected her of infidelity. He was sentenced to hang at a previous trial, but appealed and won a re-hearing.

Farm Know-How Not One-Way Street, Claim

WASHINGTON, Nov. 15 — A U. S. expert on foreign agriculture says that international trading of technical farm know-how is not a one-way street.

Dr. Ross E. Moore, chief of the technical collaboration branch of the Office of Foreign Agricultural Relations, says although the U. S. is training foreign agricultural people and sending specialists abroad to help out here and there, the U. S. "also can receive."

He adds that some of the people who are receiving U. S. know-how are persons who are "qualified leaders in their fields" and have contributions to make in return.

Ross declares that "the foundation stones for our own agricultural progress were borrowed from the old world — and even though we take pride in how we

in our new world, there is still much that can be learned from the old."

The United States now is doing "more than half the world's have built upon this foundation trade with countries that have only 11 percent of the world's people." And he points out that as the U. S. helps other countries expand their output, "they can better enter the world market place as good customers."

Ward's Two For Her Home

Are you hunting for a gift for the special person in your life? We saw something at L. M. BUTCH CO., JEWELERS, that is decidedly new and different—a MUSICAL CANDY BOX or bon-bon dish—imagine passing the chocolates to the tune of a popular ditty. A divided tray permits the hostess to serve a variety of sweets and it is removable and easily kept fresh and dainty. Just the right gift for that person who—just has everything. $10.

Hush-a-bye baby, daddy's gone a huntin'—this is a time daddy's huntin' a gift for mother for Christmas—if he means to be practical and her roaster is none too good—a trip to HARPSTER and YOST will stop all his huntin'. There he will find a WEAR EVER ROASTER of extra hard, thick sheet aluminum. This roaster sells for $5.95 and has a multitude of uses. A handy lift rack makes it so practical. An 8 pound fowl or 15 pound roast is capacity. It is also ideal for roasting the less expensive cuts of meat—makes them tender and delicious. If you are having a large gathering—bake the beans in the roaster or make a macaroni and cheese bake for the crowd—all in your roaster.

Baby huntin' whose daddy went a-huntin'—fared pretty well—he got her a CINDY LEE TREASURE CASE—it is absolutely the last word in doll-doll. An all rubber baby with all the gadgets for her comfort including a bottle warmer in pink enamel with 4 tiny bottles. A tiny spoon and measuring cup to prepare the formula and a funnel to fill the bottles. A tiny bathtub and a tiny cloth bib are included. The carrying case is a treasure—sturdy wooden case, hand decorated in pastel colors with a plastic handle. All this for only $5.98 at W. T. GRANT COMPANY.

Hunting togs are the between 9 a. m. and 5 p. m. garb of thousands of Ohio men for the next month and a half but for evenings and after hunting season all of them will be needing an A L L I GATOR TOP COAT. This is the most popular topcoat on the market today—America's most wanted gabardine—luxurious 100% all virgin wool worsted. Styled and tailored for smart, comfortable wear the year round—the all-weather—all-purpose favorite. Get your Alligator coat at CADDY MILLER HAT SHOP.

Some years back, hunting for CHESTNUTS was a favorite pastime for the youths and girls in the Fall. There are no chestnuts in this vicinity now so they must be imported. That is what PALM'S GROCERY & CARRY OUT has done. In time for your chestnut dressing for that Thanksgiving bird. Just 29c per pound.

If the land on which you are hunting this season is at a distance you will need a CLOCK RADIO. You will need it all the rest of the year too and what a pleasure it will be. Get up in the mornings to gentle music from the radio, perhaps the morning coffee will be perkier—really leisurely living. HOOVER MUSIC STORE has General Electric clock radios for $34.95 and Zenith at $39.95.

This is the time of year when hunters start polishing their guns and buying ammunition for the opening of the game season—this is also the time of year when a comfortable home made handsome by the addition of MERSMAN TABLES in the rooms appeals most to the worker. Occasional tables that have been called the costume jewelry of the home give the "complete look" of grace and beauty to your home. You'll want several for they're as useful as they are elegant. A step-end table for either end of the davenport—a cocktail table for serving refreshments and lamp tables to brighten corners and place by easy chairs. They also make wonderful gifts. MASON FURNITURE.

Hunting is a strenuous sport especially for the man who works in an office. After a day spent in the open a comfortable chair by his fire-side not only looks good but feels that way. Chances are he will fall asleep in the chair—make certain that he has a good comfortable easy chair in which to relax. MASON FURNITURE has lounge chairs as low as $69.50 that are guaranteed to be comfortable and also to be so carefully constructed that they will last for years.

HIS PROSPECTS VARIED

Boudreau Ready To Go, But Destination Unknown

NEW YORK, Nov. 15—Lou Boudreau is about to go somewhere—destination unknown. The personable ex-manager of the Cleveland Indians, got his unconditional release as a follow-up to being fired after a tenure that covered nine years.

The Cleveland club, which originally said a job was being sought for the shortstop, revealed that negotiations are off and that he is waived out of the American League, has his unconditional and can make a trade for himself.

Here are his prospects: The Pittsburgh Pirates as manager, except that Billy Meyer has a holdover $40,000 a year contract, and the Pirates new general manager, Branch Rickey, is not likely to pay Meyer to loaf and Boudreau to manage. The St. Louis Cardinals as manager, due to the recent resignation of Eddie Dyer, whose vacant post is still unfilled. Owner Fred Saigh probably would balk at paying Boudreau anything like the reported salary of $65,000 he received at Cleveland.

THE BROOKLYN Dodgers, who probably will not retain

Burt Shotton as manager now that Brother Rickey has left and may like a fellow a Boudreau's attainments and promise. The New York Yankees, Boston Red Sox and Chicago White Sox strictly as a player—a utility infielder perhaps.

Wherever he lands, they will get a fellow who on his record was an able manager in one of the toughest baseball towns known to man. He was never out of the first division in the last four years and won the world championship in 1948, as everybody knows.

He also has some playing ability left, although he is somewhat less sprightly than formerly. He is afflicted with basketball feet—dogs bused up by pounding on the hard courts while he was a collegian—and no longer is a stand-out shortstop. He can play third base much better now.

It is for the latter position that the Yankees and Red Sox show passing interest in him. And, of course, he could fill in at short if needed.

At the moment he is just another young fellow out of work. There is this slight difference between the Frenchman and other young fellows, however. He already has successfully completed one career, even though fired to bring it to an end.

At 33, he is ready to start a new one, with perhaps less fanfare than he received when at 24 he took over the Indians as the youngest manager in major league history, and made a success of one of baseball's toughest jobs.

Those Indians will be recalled as the ones who helped to get Oscar Vitt fired and boasted of more temperament than a whole ball park full of prima donnas. "It took a child to lead them," so some observers say—one who in the maturity of 33 years would like to try his hand somewhere else.

Yale Scout Is Brief

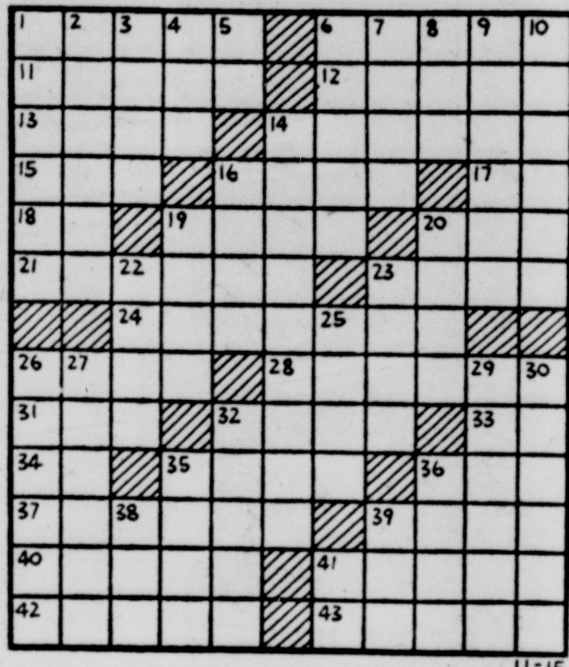

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Nov. 15—Jack Lavelle, who helped scout Princeton for Yale last Saturday, has turned in a one-word report.

The unbeaten Tigers, who meet the Elis Saturday, slaughtered Harvard, 63 to 26. Lavelle's report said: "Cancel."

5 Football Coaches Mentioned To Get Bernie Bierman's Post

MINNEAPOLIS, Nov. 15—Five football coaches from widely scattered sections of the nation were unofficially reported under consideration today as successors to University of Minnesota Mentor Bernie Bierman who announced he will resign at the close of the present season.

All of those mentioned said, however, they have not been approached by Gopher officials and one—Bud Wilkinson of Oklahoma—said he wants to remain where he is.

Wilkinson, whose team now sports a 28-game undefeated streak, played his college football under Bierman at Minnesota. He said: "I have never been asked to go to Minnesota. I have three more years left on my contract at Oklahoma and I hope they keep me after my current contract expires."

Frnka, rumored as a Bierman successor when the Gopher coach was under fire from students and alumni two years ago, said he was "pleased and proud" at the report he is under consideration again but added:

"RIGHT NOW MY only thoughts are on the University of Virginia and after that Vanderbilt and LSU—Tulane's next opponents."

Ward, once Bierman's backfield coach, expressed interest in the Minnesota job but said he doubted any official offer will be made for two or three months. James asserted he is "satisfied at Cornell" but added "I'd certainly consider a Minnesota offer seriously if I got one. I'd be foolish if I didn't."

Munn, like Wilkinson a former Minnesota player, is known to be content with his post at Michigan State, where he has fashioned one of the nation's newest football powers. It is believed he will have his greatest team next season.

Meanwhile, Minnesota officials expressed surprise at Bierman's announcement yesterday and Athletic Director Ike Armstrong said "he can stay on in the athletic department here in any capacity he wishes."

Adcock Seeking To Don Uniform

CINCINNATI, Nov. 15—Determined efforts of Joe Adcock, Cincinnati Redlegs leftfielder, to enlist in the armed services may stop him from returning to his old stand next season.

Adcock told Redleg President Warren Giles yesterday he was turned down by the Airforce. He said a trick knee caused him to fail the exam.

Adcock said he intended to try for another branch of the service today.

Les Sanders Paces Monroe To Victory

Monroe high school's basketball team got off to a lame start Tuesday night in a game with Fairfield of Madison County, but the Pickaway countians came back strong and took the final decision 50-40.

With Fairfield holding a first quarter edge of 11-10, Monroe's Lester Sanders, who collected a total of 23 points, paced the way to ultimate victory.

In the preliminary, Monroe's reserves topped the Fairfield subs, 35-21.

Full Schedule Of Games Set For Weekend

A full program of seven basketball games is on tap for Pickaway County cage fans this Friday.

Four county league contests take the spotlight during this week's program, while three county schools will play host to outside teams.

In addition, a special game is planned at Walnut for Saturday night against Pleasantville of the Fairfield County league.

League contests on tap for Friday consist of Jackson at Ashville; Atlanta at Salt Creek in Pickaway County Coliseum; Scioto at Pickaway; and Walnut at Williamsport.

NON-LEAGUE encounters to be held are Jeffersonville at Darby; Carroll at Monroe; and Bloomington at New Holland.

Three of the county teams will be opening their league season during the Friday schedule. They are Ashville, Atlanta and Walnut, who drew byes for last week's opener.

Olympians Chalk 108-78 Victory Over Syracuse

NEW YORK, Nov. 15—The Indianapolis Olympians are on their way out of the lower regions of the National Basketball Association's western division after a slow start.

The former Kentucky stars swamped the Syracuse Nationals last night, 108 to 78, and in doing so, shoved Minneapolis into the last place position they formerly occupied.

New York's Knickerbockers copped their second straight as they nudged the Washington Capitols in their first meeting of the season, 92 to 87.

Vince Boryla was high scorer for the Knicks with 21 points, and Fred Scolari led the Caps with 16.

The Philadelphia Warriors moved into first place in the eastern division with a 84 to 72 win over the Baltimore Bullets. Other teams were not scheduled.

Tony Curcillo May Be OK For Illinois Game

COLUMBUS, Nov. 15—It's no news that's good news for Illinois, Saturday's opponent for the Ohio State gridiron powerhouse. The news is that Tony Curcillo, the Buckeye's stellar quarterback, may very well recover from his ankle injury so he can play in Saturday's clash in Champaign, Ill.

Curcillo injured his ankle in last Saturday's tilt with Wisconsin, which went 19-14 to the Bucks.

Curcillo still has a slight limp but he is improving quickly under Trainer Ernie Biggs and Dr. Dick Patton, Buckeye "bone menders."

Vic Janowicz, another Buckeye casualty last week, did some running yesterday and probably will make the drill sessions today in better shape.

Chuck Gandee, fullback, was bothered with a rib injury yesterday but is sure to make the opening lineup Saturday.

Dick Widdows was in for heavy drill sessions yesterday. He might be Curcillo's replacement if the injured quarterback isn't fit this weekend.

Circleville Is Told It Is Shirking Its Duty

Red Cross Blood Donor Stand Cited

District Leader Holds Parley Here

Circleville was told bluntly this week that it is shirking its duty in the Red Cross blood bank program.

Delivering the chiding was Mrs. Colletta Ryan, district blood program field representative.

Mrs. Ryan made the statement Monday evening during a meeting of Red Cross officials and representatives from several Circleville service groups in an attempt to reorganize the local blood program.

The speaker said the local blood program should be reorganized because "our armed forces need the blood badly."

She added that "a lot of people in Circleville do not think we are getting blood here because we have contributed so little to the program."

Mrs. Ryan pointed out that Circleville already has received three or four times as much blood or blood derivatives on hand as it has contributed to the program.

ANOTHER MEETING of the group to continue the reorganizational plans is expected to be held Dec. 11 in Pickaway County common pleas courtroom.

Mrs. Jacob Smallwood, secretary for the local Red Cross chapter, said it is hoped that members of the Pickaway County Medical Association will participate in the program if it should be reorganized here.

Mrs. Smallwood added that interest in bringing the program back to Circleville was very high during the session.

The bloodmobile is slated to appear in Ashville Dec. 15, where it has been doing "very nicely" in the past.

Ashville sponsors for the program hope to fulfill a quota of 100 pints of blood, the same quota which Circleville failed to make on several separate trips by the mobile blood unit.

In fact, when the bloodmobile appeared here last time, it failed to receive even one pint of blood.

'Samaritan' Found No Good

MINNEAPOLIS, Nov. 15 — A motorist had a flat tire in a Minneapolis suburb and was jacking up the wheel when an automobile stopped and the driver got out.

Myrlin Fishbaugh, anticipating help at his task, said: "Boy, you're a real Samaritan."

"I'll get the spare tire out," said the "Samaritan."

Testing Devices Being Tested

Equipment used in testing weights in Pickaway County was itself undergoing a testing Tuesday by State Deputy Sealer Tom Collins.

The deputy sealer explained that county equipment is tested once every three years by the state. The state, in turn, has its equipment tested by the federal government every 10 years, and the federal government's equipment is checked by the International Bureau of Standards.

Deputy Sealer for Pickaway County is Eugene Wilson of Ashville.

Nunn-Bush Shoe Founder Dies

MILWAUKEE, Nov. 15 — Arthur W. Bush, 78, a founder of the Nunn-Bush Shoe Co., died Monday in a Milwaukee hospital where he was taken Friday for treatment of a heart ailment.

Bush organized Nunn-Bush in 1912 and retired from active management four years ago after it had grown from a small plant to one of the leading shoe manufacturing firms in the United States.

Check-Writer Given Sentence

Carl Hott, 27, of Columbus has been sentenced to 1-3 years in Ohio State Reformatory in Mansfield by Judge William D. Radcliff in Pickaway County common pleas court.

Hott was indicted by the January grand jury for issuing checks without funds in the bank.

British Annual Says Reds Build Manpower Pool

LONDON, Nov. 15—Russia is reported today to be "working overtime" reorganizing its army to achieve a trained manpower pool of 12 to 13 million men by 1954. The Soviets also were said to be striving for a greatly expanded fleet augmented by 1,000 submarines.

The report comes from the new edition of the authoritative Brassey's Naval Annual. The annual said that the armed forces are being thoroughly reorgan-

ed with a greater emphasis on tanks, artillery and military aircraft.

Current plane production in Russia was estimated at 12,000 annually and the army's present first line aerial strength was placed at 18,000 planes.

The backbone of the air force was reported to be high performance jet fighters and fighter bombers now being built at a rate of nearly 2,000 a year.

The 64th edition of the standard naval reference work estimated that Russia has at present three million men under arms. But it added that since the end of the war one million 200 thousand men have been conscripted annually. It concluded:

"The present form of the army's trained manpower will probably be established at about 12 to 13 millions by 1954."

Squire Root Collects $488.60

Quail-Shooting, Trespassing Cited

"Some of you have been very bad boys."

The remark was made to a group of eight disconsolate hunters by Magistrate Oscar Root Wednesday morning.

The eight men were haled before the justice on game violation counts ranging from trespassing to shooting a quail. Total bill was $488.60.

The parade of game violators was led down South Court street to Magistrate Root's office by Game Protector Clarence Francis who signed affidavits against:

Elvie Williams, 26, of Wheelersburg, Ky., for hunting without a non-resident permit, trespassing and shooting a quail out of season.

Hubert Blanton, 38, of Sciotoville, Ky., and Edgar Blanton, 34, of Salyersville, Ky., each for trespassing and hunting without a non-resident permit.

Oakley Blanton, 28, of Jackson Route 2; Eddie Risner, 37, of Jackson Route 2; Tom L. Blanton, 18, of Dayton; Ray Blanton, 23, of Beaver Route 1; and Paul W. Rowland, 28, of Jackson Route 4; each for trespassing.

ACCORDING to the affidavits, all the men were trespassing on the George W. Adkins farm. On the trespassing counts, Magistrate Root fined each $15 and costs. For hunting without a non-resident permit, he assessed the violators $50 and costs each. The dead quail cost Williams $100 and costs.

"It's just a little ol' quail," said Magistrate Root. "A very small bird, but that small bird is going to cost you $100. In this state quail has been protected for years and years and years. There is no open season."

"If you had read the yellow slip that comes with your license, you would have known that."

Williams, Hubert Blanton and Oakley Blanton, the out-of-state men, were hunting on Ohio hunting permits.

All but Williams paid their fines and were released. Williams was committed to Pickaway County jail to sit out the fine and costs at $1 a day. His total bill was $186.40.

Root's slap at game violators this year apparently was tempered with mercy. The case last year of Massachusetts Industrialist Warren Beard in which fines and costs totalling $4,583.60 were assessed against him for

4 Persons Hurt In Car Smashup Wednesday Morn

Four persons were injured, one seriously, Wednesday morning in an auto smashup north-east of Circleville.

Seriously injured was Merle Mizelle, 32, of Columbus. Pickaway County Deputy Sheriff Mack Wise reported he suffered a severe head gash and possible concussion.

Less seriously injured and suffering lacerations and bruises were Mrs. Nellie Huston, 28, of Circleville Route 4, and her two children, Charles, 3, and Charlotte, 5.

Deputy Sheriff Wise said the cars, one driven by Mizelle and the other by Mrs. Huston, collided at the intersection of Township and Bethany roads, about a mile off State Route 188, five miles out of Circleville.

Wise said that preliminary investigation showed that Mizelle had failed to yield right-of-way. A formal accusation against the man was withheld pending outcome of treatment the Columbus was receiving in Berger hospital.

The three Hustons also were being treated in the local clinic. Wise said he understood Mizelle was enroute to a hunting spot while the Hustons had been visiting relatives, were returning to their home only about a mile from the scene of the accident.

ELECTION RESULTS seem to him to indicate nationwide lack of confidence in President Truman's foreign policy and a definite turn to Republican principles, Senator Robert A. Taft, (R) Ohio, declares in a Washington news conference. The senator, reelected by an overwhelming majority, said he favors continued U. S. aid to anti-Communist nations, but only after Congress resurveys the whole question.

ROKS RETREAT 4 MILES

China Reds Drive Wedge Into Center Of UN Line

SEOUL, Nov. 15—Chinese and North Korean Red troops hammered South Korean forces into a four-mile retreat on the central front.

Apparently striving to open a gap between United Nations troops in the northwest and northeast sectors, the Communists smashed down the middle of the peninsula, driving the Rok (Republic of Korea) Eighth Division before them.

Over ground frozen by sub-zero or near-zero temperatures the South Koreans fell back four miles to the southern bank of the strategic Taedong river in an area four miles east of pivotal Tokchon.

Closely backed up by three Chinese route armies, the enemy's shock forces pressed a tri-

Campaign Eyed For Voluntary Defense Plan

WASHINGTON, Nov. 15—The National Production Authority considered today a vast campaign offering consumers their choice between voluntary conservation and rationing.

NPA officials said the program would parallel measures taken during World War II and, if it is inaugurated, would be ready for operation early next year.

Civilians would be asked to contribute to the military buildup by purchasing only those things they actually need. Any excess cash they may have on hand, the government feels, should be invested in savings bonds rather than materials to be hoarded.

Only "necessity" purchasing of such articles as rubber tires, aluminum pots and pans and other products made from scarce materials would be asked.

6 Burned Bodies Found In Crash

PAGE, Okla., Nov. 15—Six burned bodies were found today in the wreckage of a Navy plane in the rugged mountain area near here.

The aircraft was a training plane from the New Orleans Naval Air Station on a training flight.

Lt. Ramon George, public information officer at Lincoln naval air station, where the plane refueled at 3 p. m. yesterday, said, however, there were five men, all officers on the ship when it stopped at Lincoln.

ple-pronged assault in a possible preliminary to an anticipated major counter-push on the central front.

The Red drive was unleashed as a U. S. First Corps spokesman declared that Chinese Red commanders now have assumed control of all remaining North Korean troops.

THE ENEMY'S heavy onslaught was apparently aimed at carving out a southward-pointing bulge in the center that would endanger any further northward advances by UN forces in either the western or eastern coastal areas.

In most parts of the two coastal sectors the Reds were mysteriously withdrawing without leaving rear guard units.

This posed the possibility that the Chinese command, now in charge of all Red forces in Korea, was pursuing the strategy of attempting to set a double trap to envelop and chop off the U. S. Eighth Army in the west and the 10th Corps in the east.

As the ground fighting raged, 30 American B-29 bombers rained 300 tons of incendiaries on Hoeryong in the northernmost penetration yet made over Korea.

It was the 12th Superfort fire-bombing of an important rail-highway center at or near the Manchurian border since Nov. 5.

On the latter date, the hub of Kanggye in north central Korea was showered with incendiaries as Gen. Douglas MacArthur ordered a maximum air effort to destroy the routes over which Chinese Red troops move into Korea.

The five-way junction city of Hoeryong lies 30 miles north of the 42nd Parallel in Korea's far northeastern corner. It is on the east bank of the south-north stretch of the Tumen river, opposite Manchuria and 45 miles west of the eight-mile-long Siberian-Korean border.

AT YOERYONG, the Tumen flows north past Manchuria's Tumen city, 35 miles above Hoeryong. The Tumen turns east for a short distance before dipping south to empty into the Japan Sea just below Siberia's south-west tip.

While enemy forces drove forward in the center, American

Poor Ol' Santa Tossed In Clink

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 15—Sledding will be tough for the wrong Santa Claus in New Orleans this year.

The first Santa of the season—red suit, flowing white beard and all—appeared on Canal Street yesterday. He was promptly thrown into the clink.

Glen Slocumb, 32, who said he recently arrived from California, was jailed for begging. The Better Business Bureau protested his collections for a non-existent "Rescue Army Christmas Fund for Needy Families."

Slocumb admitted the "needy" were his two buddies and himself. He said they split the first day's take—$25.

New Defense Tax Urged By Treasury

Corporation Profits Eyed By Government

WASHINGTON, Nov. 15—The administration today proposed to Congress a 75 percent "defense tax" on excess corporation profits to bring in the additional $4 billion annually asked by President Truman.

The proposal was accompanied by a hint of new taxes still to come. Talk in administration circles is that the incoming 82nd Congress will be asked to provide another $6 billion a year, partly through a boost in individual income taxes.

Treasury Secretary Snyder outlined the administration's excess tax proposal at the opening of hearings before the House Ways and Means Committee.

The new tax would be in addition to the maximum 45 percent levy now paid by corporations in income taxes and represents the "second installment" on the President's "interim" 1950 tax program.

The "first installment" provided for a $4.7 billion boost in taxes. Enacted last September, it included a $2.7 billion dollar increase in individual income taxes and a $1.6 billion rise in corporation income taxes.

SNYDER DECLARED that war or excess profits should be computed on the basis of corporation earnings during the years 1946, 1947, 1948 and 1949. He suggested that all profits above the average earned during three of the four years be taxed 75 percent. Each corporation would be permitted to eliminate its "poorest year" in computing its average earnings.

Snyder proposed that corporations be given a $25,000 annual exemption from the new tax, with the levy to apply on profits above that amount.

The 75 percent rate compares with a 95 percent tax imposed on World War II profits. Subsequently, a credit was given corporations, reducing the tax rate to 85 and one-half percent above average

Michigan Faces Idea Of Having No 'Governor'

DETROIT, Nov. 15—Michigan today faces the possibility of being without an officially-elected governor on Jan. 1, although Democratic Incumbent G. Mennen Williams now holds an official margin of 1,152 votes.

Young Governor Williams was proclaimed winner of the election held a week ago when the state's 83 county boards completed their official canvass yesterday.

The first unofficial report issued the day after the election gave the governorship to Republican Harry F. Kelly by a margin of 6,108 votes.

Williams was jubilant yesterday over the news of his apparent reelection, but Kelly indicated he has not given up the battle. The GOP candidate said he will petition for a statewide recount.

Election officials point out that a recount and court battles over the slim margin may extend into 1951, leaving the state without an official governor.

The Republicans have contended that the "temporary governor" should be Republican William C. Vandenberg of Holland, who won the lieutenant-governorship by more than 90,000 votes.

YULE PROGRAM IS PONDERED

City To Be Best-Decorated In State, Chamber Hoping

Circleville will be the best decorated town for miles around on Christmas if the Chamber of Commerce has its way.

Chamber members would like to pour $2,000 into decorating the town, concentrating on making the intersection of Court and Main streets a Christmas sight that would bring credit to the town.

To insure the erection of some decorative effects, the chamber decided Tuesday evening to underwrite $500 of the cost.

Decision on what type and style of decoration to spend the money on was left up to a committee composed of R. L. Brehmer and Joe Bell. Main hope for making this year's street dressing better than ever before, however, was pinned on a drive to solicit contributions from downtown merchants.

Each merchant in the downtown area will be contacted by a chamber member, asked to donate funds. At the same time the merchants will be asked to indicate their preferences on the matter of store hours during December.

THEY WILL be offered three plans:

1. To maintain store hours as they are at present.
2. To stay open from 9 a. m. to 9 p. m. on Wednesdays throughout December, and to remain open Wednesday, Thursday, Friday and Saturday nights during the week prior to Christmas which falls on a Monday.

3. To follow the last year's schedule of staying open Wednesday afternoon and every night during Christmas week.

The 14 chamber members present at the meeting in Court-Main restaurant discussed the possibility of having individual

Food Prices Drop Slightly

WASHINGTON, Nov. 15—A slight drop in retail food prices during the last two weeks of October was reported by the government today, the first such decline since August.

The Bureau of Labor Statistics, on the basis of a special survey of 50 foods in eight cities, said retail grocery costs dipped 0.4 percent between Oct. 15 and Oct. 30.

merchants erect Christmas trees in front of their stores. Trees would be purchased by the chamber.

Secretary John Magill said the chamber has about 50 strings of tree lights that could be used to decorate the trees.

The members expressed disappointment over the effectiveness of the plastic decorations erected last year.

Opinion was that the plastics were spread out too thinly, produced a shabby effect instead of the cheery, Christmas air expected.

It was also pointed out that local merchants who contributed to the purchase of the plastics were told they would not have to make further contributions.

They were told, according to chamber members, that the plastics, being permanent, would end the need for fund

Football Pool Said Financed By School Kids

CINCINNATI, Nov. 15—The search for backers of a football lottery based on Cincinnati school children's lunch money shifted today to Newport, Ky.

Leonard Goldstein, 20, of Cincinnati pleaded guilty to three charges of tending to cause delinquency yesterday in connection with the sale of the lottery tickets.

He told Juvenile Court Judge Charles W. Hoffman:

"I got the tickets from a man named Bill in Newport."

Judge Hoffman deferred sentence pending an investigation by the probation department.

Goldstein said he had sold 1,000 tickets in four weeks at prices ranging from 50 cents to one dollar. He said he got 30 percent of the proceeds.

Bars Banned

WASHINGTON, Nov. 15—The National Production Authority today banned the construction of bars and all buildings where alcoholic liquors are to be sold for consumption. The order is effective immediately.

drives for Christmas decorations.

OTHER CHAMBER members, however, said that they, as merchants, had labored under no such illusion. They had expected to be approached for more funds during the Christmas season.

The chamber left decision on what to do with the plastic decorations up to the decorations committee. Brehmer said they would be used, but at lower heights than last year, and probably in front of business establishments.

Said President Leslie May: "If we made a mistake with these things last year, let's rectify it this year."

Suggestions for decorating the intersection of Court and Main streets included the erection of Christmas trees on poles at each corner, with light-festooned laurel ropes strung canopy fashion from the center of the intersection to the corners. Above the traffic light in the center another large tree would be supported by guy wires.

The chamber's $500 will be used for this. If the $2,000 contribution goal is reached, the decorative scheme will be expanded to include crisscrossed laurel ropes over Court and Main streets. The ropes would be hung with colored lights.

In the discussion on store hours, a brand new chamber member pointed out that 14 members present out of a total membership of over 90 was hardly sufficient to set the closing rules for all the merchants in Circleville. He expressed a touch of unhappiness over the small turnout.

"I'm a newcomer," he said, "and when I came here this evening, I was expecting to meet at least 50 other merchants and businessmen. Instead I see only a handful."

He suggested that the chamber make an effort to get a larger attendance at the meetings, even, if necessary, "going to their homes and dragging them down here."

23 Feared Dead In Train Mishap

OSLO, Nov. 15—Twenty persons were feared killed today when an Oslo-bound express train hit a truck at Hjukseboe on the south coast of Norway.

Six bodies were recovered soon after the crash and rescue workers reported "many" still trapped in the debris.

Retired Farmer Signs Petition

A request for a recount of votes on the Circleville school bond issue has been filed in Pickaway County board of elections by Walter Goodman of South Court street.

Goodman's request, signed by six voters asks for a recount of votes in Precinct 1E and the entire 4th Ward.

A meeting of the election board has been called for 9 a. m. Thursday to determine whether Goodman's notice was filed within a five-day period specified by law for the filing of such notices.

The notice was filed at 3:30 p. m. Tuesday, seven days after the election. But the seven days includes Sunday and a legal holiday, Armistice Day.

IT WAS REPORTED that the school board met Tuesday night to discuss the advisability of countering Goodman's attack by asking for a recount of votes in all precincts, decided to let the matter stand.

Representing Goodman, a retired farmer of 624 South Court street, in the action is Attorney Don Patterson of Adelphi.

Goodman gave the board of elections $10 for each of the five precincts he wants recounted. If he is correct in his contention that the count is wrong, he will get his $50 refunded. Otherwise, the county will use the $50 to pay cost of the recount.

The bond issue was the largest in the county during the recent election, calling for $475,000 for the Circleville physical education program.

The issue received just slightly more than the 55 percent of votes required for its passage.

Total for the issue was 1,953, and 1,472 against.

In the disputed precincts, the totals were as follows:

1E, for 80, against, 84; 4A, for 100, against, 94; 4B, for 126, against, 103; 4C, for 155, against, 137; 4D, for 76, against, 63.

Television Stars Calling Strike

NEW YORK, Nov. 15—The AFL Television Authority declared today a strike will be called against the TV networks from coast to coast "probably within a day or two."

The authority, representing 25,000 TV performers, said a walkout will affect "everybody from Milton Berle and Arthur Godfrey down."

George Heller, executive secretary of the authority, said a walkout has been authorized against NBC, CBS, Dumont and the ABC networks and Station WOR-TV in New York after negotiations for a new agreement and pay increases broke down yesterday.

No Special Call Expected

WASHINGTON, Nov. 15—A White House source indicated today that President Truman has decided not to call Congress into special session before its scheduled return on Nov. 27.

The President will announce his decision at his weekly news conference tomorrow afternoon. The White House source said that, due to the fact that the regular day for Congress to return is now only a week and a half away, there would be no point in calling the lawmakers back to Washington a week earlier.

Snyder estimated that the Treasury faces a $2 billion deficit for the current fiscal year ending next June 30. He estimated expenditures for this fiscal year at $45 billion and said revenue, including the "first installment" tax boost of $4.7 billion, would bring in $43 billion. Snyder declared:
"Corporation profits for 1950 will establish a new record. It is now estimated that corporation profits before taxes for this year will total $37 billion, or $3 billion in excess of the peak year 1948." He continued:

"IN VIEW OF this earnings record, there can be little doubt that, if properly distributed, $4 billion of additional taxes would leave corporations, in the aggregate, with high earnings and a high rate-of-return on investment."
Snyder said that the national income has "jumped sharply" under the impact of the defense effort.

The secretary rejected suggestions for an increase in the normal corporation income tax in place of an excess profits levy. He stated that this would hit corporations which do not benefit directly from defense contracts as well as those that do.

Poll Officials Tell Mistake

COLUMBUS, Nov. 15—Six election officials of a Columbus south side precinct, charged with failing to remove numbered stubs from voting ballots, contend that they failed to read instructions.

Mrs. Mary Ritz of Columbus told the Franklin County board of elections at a hearing yesterday "there was no malicious intention at all. There was no harm meant."

The irregularity was spotted a few hours after the polls were opened. Eugene T. Spetnagel of Columbus told the elections board yesterday, "she started to put them (both stubs and ballots) into the ballot box. I told her it was my understanding the stubs came off, and she said, 'no, they stay on.'"

World Government Being Boomed

SPRINGFIELD, Nov. 15—A Yale professor and former British subject contends that world government "is the only ultimate for lasting peace."

Dr. Roland H. Bainton, author of "Here I Stand," a prize-winning biography of Martin Luther, told an audience last night at Wittenberg college, Springfield, that "world citizenship under a world government, a venture of faith, might be the practical victory we need."

Barn Levelled On Farm South Of Circleville

A barn on the Meinhardt Crites farm about three miles south of Circleville was completely destroyed by fire Tuesday night.

Circleville Fire Chief Palmer Wise said the blaze was reported about 9 p. m. He said that along with the barn from nine to 10 tons of hay was burned.

"There were a number of farm implements in the barn, but they were saved, all but a moving machine," Wise reported.

The chief added that water pumped from a watering trough was used to save nearby garages and a double corn crib.

"How the thing started is a mystery," the chief said. "The state fire marshal's office is investigating it."

No one was injured in the blaze, nor was any livestock hurt, Wise continued.

"But," he said, "it sure lit up the countryside. It drew people for miles around and traffic on Route 23 stopped while drivers and passengers got out to watch."

Aid in getting the farm implements out of the barn was furnished by neighbors, the chief said.

Congress Told Discipline Itself

CINCINNATI, Nov. 15—Congress has a request to "discipline" itself to the "use of the privileges of congressional immunity."

More than 2,000 delegates to the biennial convention of the National Assembly of the United Council of Church Women in Cincinnati censured Congress yesterday for "abusing" its privileges.

The delegates said that a "demand for legislation curtailing such privileges" probably would follow.

An Eighth Army spokesman said about three Chinese divisions are entrenched in strong positions immediately in front of the UN forces in the northwest sector.

Youth Admits Shooting Man To Aid Friend

MEDINA, Nov. 15—Gerald Killinger, the 17-year-old youth who said he killed Harold Mast, 23, because of his friendship for Max Amerman, is expected to resume the witness stand today.

The youth testified last yesterday, after the state rested its case, that he ambushed Mast on Oct. 5 to clear the way for Amerman, 27, who wanted to marry Mast's widow, Randi, 24. Amerman is to be tried separately.

Killinger denied that he shot Mast for money or a car. He said he did it because Amerman was good to him and treated him "like a brother."

However, the youth said he "woke up" when he learned that Amerman signed his Medina Township farm over to the dead man's widow after they were arrested.

It was then, Killinger told the jury, that "I realized the way things were, that he played me for a fall guy."

Earlier, Dr. E. H. Crawford, superintendent of the Cleveland State Hospital, testified that he had examined Killinger and that he believed the youth to be insane.

Three Children Die In Flames

CINCINNATI, Nov. 15—Three small children burned to death when flames swept a third-floor apartment in Cincinnati.

Killed yesterday were Geraldine Howell, 3, and her sisters, Beverly, 2, and Gwendolyn, 10 months old.

The mother, Mrs. Manius Howell, and an older sister, Sarah, 15, were shopping at the time. Fire Marshal Alex Blackburn said matches were found in the bedding after the blaze.

Senator Raps State Department On Oil Deals

WASHINGTON, Nov. 15—A Senate Democrat criticized the State Department today for "deplorable" delay in failing to take early action against shipments of oil and gasoline to Communist China.

Sen. O'Connor, (D) Md., lashed out at what he called the department's "imprudent" policy in reporting that nearly 15 million gallons of U. S. oil and gasoline have been shipped to China since the Reds took control in September, 1949.

The senator, who heads a subcommittee investigating such shipments, said that 1,313,870 gallons came from the United States and 13,396,280 came from middle eastern production by American oil companies and their affiliates.

The shipments, he added, included 8,270,597 gallons of oil, 4,977,760 gallons of gasoline and 1,461,793 gallons of other petroleum products of strategic values.

The senator said that according to the oil companies, the great bulk of the products were shipped between Oct. 1, 1949, and June, 1950, when the companies agreed to refuse further shipments to Red China.

Patrol To Get Pay Increases

COLUMBUS, Nov. 15—State highway patrolmen have pay raises today, but they're all contingent on the 99th General Assembly which meets in January.

After nearly 60 men had resigned to take jobs with municipal police departments and other law enforcement jobs, the pay boosts were authorized by the Civil Service Commission as "emergencies."

The increases with old salaries in parenthesis are:

No Clemency Is Allowed

COLUMBUS, Nov. 15—Twenty-one-year-old Clark C. Hill of Medina, former Ohio State university student serving a life prison term for murder, will get no clemency from Governor Lausche.

The governor turned down Hill's request yesterday. Hill was convicted by a three-judge court in Medina County for the April 10, 1948, slaying of Jeanette Weimer, 18. Mercy was recommended and a life sentence therefore became mandatory.

The governor said that the petition for clemency was filed by Emile Reiss, Columbus attorney and self-styled "court of last resort."

Dog Said Only As Smart As His Master

Training a dog to be more than "best friend" was demonstrated to a group of local churchmen Tuesday evening.

Demonstrator was Ralph Wallace, officer for Pickaway County Humane Society. His "pupil" was Rex, a German police dog being trained for Howard Ater of Circleville.

Ater, a World War II veteran, who was seriously injured in action, will require a dog with more than the average amount of training.

Bound to a wheelchair most of the time, Ater is not interested in being required to exert much energy in chasing after the family pooch.

So Wallace was called in and Rex given to the local trainer. It was before the Men's Brotherhood of First EUB church that Wallace demonstrated what had been accomplished in only one day of training.

REX HAD LEARNED his first lessons well. At vocal command by Wallace, Rex would "sit," "stay," "crawl" and "come."

Wallace said it demonstrates his favorite saying: "A dog reflects directly the discipline of his master. Thus, an untrained dog shows an untrained master."

Wallace long has frowned at dogs which bark incessantly, pull at leash and misbehave in general.

He claims the dog is no worse than his owner, and if the dog barks and annoys the neighbors he is merely doing so because his master wants him to.

The humane society official snorts when he sees a dog on leash pulling the owner down the street. Says Wallace:
"That's just a case of the dog being smarter than his owner."

Truman Cancels Usual Morning Outdoor Walks

WASHINGTON, Nov. 15—President Truman has stopped his daily early morning walks, but the White House insisted today that the attempt to assassinate him last month is not the reason.

The White House contended that it is mere coincidence that the President has not taken his habitual early morning constitutional for two weeks.

The fact remains, however, that Mr. Truman has left Blair House for his pre-breakfast mile walk only once since the two fanatic Puerto Rican revolutionists attempted to shoot their way into Blair House and kill him.

White House attaches deny reports that the President, whose morning walks have been almost his sole recreative activity, had cancelled them on orders of the Secret Service.

Mr. Truman was up and out for his morning walk bright and early the day after the shooting affray in front of Blair House a little more than two weeks ago. Under heavy Secret Service guard, the President walked briskly from Blair House to the Washington Monument and returned.

illegal possession of quail and hen pheasants was recalled.

A TOTAL OF 22 affidavits were filed against Beard, who remarked sadly:
"I used to be a home boy only."

Concerning the six quail in Beard's possession, Root remarked:
"It is known all over Ohio that efforts are being made to promote the quail bird. It is a beautiful bird. . . . The fine is $200 and costs for each quail."

Working with Game Protector Francis on the rounding up of the game violators was Eugene McConaughy, game protector of Highland County.

After paying his fine, one of the hunters walked over to Francis.

"Would you tell me just one thing, please? How did you get out there so fast?" he asked plaintively.

The hunter sighed, then turned his back. Handling Francis his recovered permit, an Ohio license, he said, "Would you mind pinning this on my back?"

Francis complied, still grinning.

Walisa Denies Gambling Rap

Roy Walisa of Circleville pleaded innocent Tuesday when arraigned in Chillicothe in a gambling case.

Four men, who were arrested in the Ross County VFW Club, were each fined $25 and costs by Ross County Common Pleas Judge Howard Goldsberry. They were playing poker.

Through his attorney, Tom Renick of Circleville, Walisa pleaded innocent. His trial will be held Nov. 28. He is free on $300 bond.

Texas Gasoline Refinery Blows

PORT ARTHUR, Tex., Nov. 15—Four explosions tore through the Gulf gasoline refinery one mile southwest of Port Arthur early today and started a raging fire in the high pressure refinery division of the plant.

Three men were reported seriously injured. A Port Arthur fire official said the flames were brought under control after an hour's fight.

World's Women Await Chance, Expert Declares

CINCINNATI, Nov. 15—A world famous missionary declared today that at least 800 million illiterate women in the world are "waiting for their chance to rise out of degradation and ignorance and to lift their children up with them."

Dr. Frank C. Laubach, pioneer literacy expert, told the 2,000 delegates of the United Council of Church Women's assembly in Cincinnati that the "emancipation of womanhood is swiftly spreading."

He said the illiterate "are waiting for us here in America to hear and respond to their call." He added:

"If the women could see your own sex in those areas, millions of them, waiting, hoping, yearning to come up and bring their children up, you could never again go back to the comfortable lives in the midst of luxuries without making sure first that those women get their chance to help themselves."

Dr. Laubach explained that the task of creating literacy for the millions is "stupendous" and pointed out that "it needs to be done in 60 countries and 300 languages."

Clarence L. McKinsey, 727 South Ludlow Street, Dayton, Ohio, who is night supervisor of hospital attendants at the Ohio State Hospital in Dayton, says a man has trouble getting used to working nights and sleeping days. And if a man isn't getting the proper rest it not only makes him groggy on the job, but also makes him feel poorly the rest of the time. This will never happen to him again, says Mr. McKinsey—now that he is taking HADACOL. His system lacked those necessary Vitamins B1, B2, Iron, and Niacin, which HADACOL contains.

Here is Mr. McKinsey's own statement:
"Before I started taking HADACOL I had a great deal of trouble with a nervous stomach. I had an awful hard time sleeping—I would just roll and toss all night. It affected me during my working hours, too—I was restless and nervous all the time. My nerves were so jumpy that the least little thing would put me on edge. I was just beside myself in knowing what to do. Then I heard how other folks that were nervous and run down were being helped by HADACOL. I decided to try HADACOL. Now, after 10 bottles of HADACOL, I feel fine; in fact, I think so much of HADACOL I would walk 5 miles for a bottle of HADACOL—I'm not exaggerating. Why, the way I sleep and the appetite I have are marvelous. The best thing is that my nerves are calm as they can be. I just can't praise HADACOL enough."

Thousands Have Been Helped by HADACOL whose systems lacked Vitamins B1, B2, Iron, and Niacin. The HADACOL formula is so effective for stomach distress, certain nervous disorders, insomnia due to upset stomach, nagging aches and pains, and a general run-down condition when these troubles are caused by such deficiencies.

Give HADACOL A Chance . . . to help you, as it has helped thousands of others if you suffer from such deficiencies. Remember, there are no substitutes for HADACOL. Always insist on the genuine HADACOL. No risk involved. Buy a bottle of HADACOL, either the trial size, $1.25, or the large family or hospital size, $3.50, and if HADACOL doesn't help you, get your money back. If your druggist does not have HADACOL, order it direct from The LeBlanc Corporation, Lafayette, Louisiana. (C) 1950, The LeBlanc Corporation

By BILLY ROSE

One of the actors I recently interviewed for my television show was a young fellow named Bill Ferguson.

"Haven't I seen you in something?" I asked.

"Still with the show?"

"No, I left it a few months ago to try my luck at television."

"Show business is a tough racket," I orated.

"I haven't found it so," said Bill. "Matter of fact, ever since I got to town it's been one good break after another. Incidentally, your friend, Dick Rodgers, was responsible for the first one."

"What did Richard do for you?" I asked.

"Well," said the youngster, "it started when Mr. Rodgers and

Mr. Hammerstein were holding auditions for the chorus and bit parts in 'South Pacific.' My wife—her stage name is Evelyn Colby—also does some singing and dancing, so we tried out for the show together. Only one of us, however, got picked—Evelyn."

"Doesn't sound like too good a beginning."

"It wasn't," said Bill "but we figured there wasn't any point moping about it—the important thing was not to be separated. So when the show went up to New Haven to break in, I went along with it and, as luck would have it, I landed a job as waiter in Casey's Chop House—the place on College Street across from the Shubert Theatre."

"It was the best thing that could have happened," the youngster went on, "because a couple of days before the opening who should come in and plunk himself down at one of my tables but Mr. Rodgers."

"HE RECOGNIZED ME, and when he quizzed me about what I was doing in a waiter's get-up, I told him I had taken the job so as to be near my wife. The story seemed to tickle him, and when he went back to the theatre I understand he held up a rehearsal to repeat it to Oscar Hammerstein and Josh Logan, the director. An hour later the three of them came into the chop house looking for me, and the next morning I was on the stage of the Shubert learning the lyrics of 'There is Nothing Like a Dame.'"

"Cute story," I said. "There's more to it," said Bill. "A columnist heard about what happened and wrote it up, and as a result I got a couple of television nibbles. Then the nicest thing of all happened. One night Margaret Truman came backstage, and after congratulating Pinza and Mary Martin she asked for the Bill Ferguson she had read about. You see, we went to the same high school in Independence, Missouri, and broke into the singing business together in the choir of the Baptist Church."

"Did your wife get to meet the President's daughter?"

"Not that evening," said the youngster, "but she did a few days later when Miss Truman came around to our apartment to see the new baby."

Quartet Held For Passing Bogus Money

PORTSMOUTH, Nov. 15—Two women and two men, one of them a former township peace officer, were held today to the federal grand jury on charges of passing counterfeit $10 bills in eight states.

Held under bonds of $5,000 each are Mrs. Eileen Adkins, waitress and mother of three; Mrs. Elsie Brown, 32; Lewis Judy, 42, a used car dealer, and Charles Vaughn, 51, former Scioto County constable and Rome marshal.

The foursome waived preliminary hearing yesterday when they appeared before U. S. Commissioner Laurence Kimble. Accused of distributing $10,000 worth of bogus bills in Ohio, Maryland, Illinois, Kentucky, Iowa, Virginia, West Virginia and Tennessee, the four will be taken to Cincinnati to face grand jury action.

Mrs. Adkins confessed her participation in the counterfeit ring last week, involving the other three. She said she was "tricked" into cashing a phony bill in Chicago and then the gang threatened to expose her if she backed out of the racket.

Judy, a former partner with Vaughn in a used furniture business in New Boston, was named as the leader. Judy admitted his part in the ring, but has failed to tell where he got the phony bills.

KINSEY'S MEN'S SHOP

Elinor Williams' Teen Tips

With Uncle Sam's mailman come letters asking how to overcome painful shyness. . . how to make gay chatter instead of awkward silences, how to be friendly instead of self-conscious.

It takes a little effort, but you can do it. First: Always remember that you're just one of the group and that others have moments of shyness just as you do; they're too busy to notice your plight as much as you think. So forget yourself by putting your mind on what's cooking at the moment. You can think of just one thing at a time, so think resolutely about the dance, party, or whatever you're doing and you'll forget your shyness.

Second: Experts say that if you ACT in a certain manner, you'll FEEL that way. So act self-confident and gay as if you were having fun. . . and before you know it, you will be. This really works; try it!

Third: Boost your self-confidence by looking your best. You'll be less conscious of yourself if you know your hair looks neat, your face, hands and nails are clean, your clothes clean, brushed and right for the time and place. Girls don't primp just for fun; knowing their appearance is as "right" as they can make it give them confidence.

Fourth: Increase your self-assurance by learning to do things well, then you'll have a feeling of fitting into the picture more comfortably and confidently wherever you are. Learn the games and sports that other teenagers enjoy. Take dancing lessons if you're not smooth on the dance floor. Ask a friend to teach you to bowl, play tennis or swim—or take lessons at little expense at the YWCA. If there's one near you. Practice for confidence!

For personality perk-ups to help increase your self-confidence send a stamped, self-addressed envelope to Elinor Williams at this paper.

Book Week Is Now Being Observed By Library

Book Week is being observed in libraries, book stores and schools throughout the nation this week.

With the origin of Book Week in 1919 has come a special effort on the part of publishers and book men to make their stock of books and especially books for children of all ages more attractive, more entertaining, and of better content in story and theme.

Each year the illustrations of even the simplest text are more colorful and there is a great deal of competition among publishers to secure the more popular artists to illustrate their forthcoming books.

Circleville Public Library has on display many new books for all age groups, book week posters have been sent to the several schools of the city and the bookmobile, and teachers are being invited to bring their classes in to see the recent books. These books may be circulated right after Book Week has past.

Among the new things, animals of every sort are a favorite subject, ranging from mice to elephants. For the very small child just beginning to read, there are several new copies of old favorites, lovely colored primers and readers, "Come and See," "Policemen," "Where is Cubby Bear," "Who Are You," "Jack and Sue," "Here We Play," "Don and Peggy," "Five Little Finger Playmates," "Our School," "Trains Today," "Our Houses," and the somewhat more advanced "Cowboys," "Mr. Bear

CHILDREN OF THE lower elementary grades will also find their favorite Indians in stories they can read, "Navajo Indians," "Pueblo Indians" and "Indians of the Longhouse," in addition to the Red Feather already a favorite.

The fourth to seventh graders will probably enjoy "David Faragut—Boy Midshipman," by Long, "Woodrow Wilson—Boy President" by Helen Monsell, "Jungle Child," by Caroline Davis, a story of a tomboy growing up in a motherless home in India, "Taming of Giants" by Patricia Gordon provides a mouse-eye view of the world and humans and two very nice young ones who give him a home.

"Luck for Little Lihu," by May Justus is a heartening tale of a simple mountain people and the struggle of the main character to learn to read. "Squirrelly of Willow Hill" is a friendly story of a small squirrel that fell from its nest. He was found by a Mrs. McGinty, and she and her husband fed the little animal and made him at home. He even had his own Christmas tree. In the spring he was taken back to play with the other squirrels in the park.

A few of the books for high school readers include the adventure-story "Shadowdown," by Longstreth, with a plane crash in the wilderness as its climax.

"The Lamp is Heavy," by Sheila Russell is a story of the personal experiences of nurse-in-training, Susan is as real as your neighbor and the drawings add vigor and flavor to the story.

There is a great feel of natural interest in the nursing story and this book is one of the best.

"Duke of the Bruins," by Roger Treat, "Shortstop Shadow," by Howard Brier, "Ross Duncan at Bataan," by Pashko, "Crosswind Canyon," by Margaret Hubbard, "Blood Bay Colt," by James Farley, De Leeuw's "Hawthorne House," "Hold That Line," by Archibald, "Nose for Trouble," by Kelgard, and "It Might Be You," as specially designed for the High School reader.

SOME OF THE most enchanting picture books for the reader-to-me age are "Hide Away Ducklings," "Flicka, Ricka, Dicka and the Three Kittens," "Tommy Tittlemouse," "Susan's Bears," in which a grown up cousin teaches little Susan to overcome her fear of the four bears "that lived behind the bedroom door," "Where's the Bunny," by Carroll, Dr. Seuss's "If I Ran the Zoo," "Patsy and the Pup," by Hilda Von Stockum, "Blaze Finds the Trail," by Anderson, "Star Spangled Banner," by Aulaire, and Ipcar's "One Horse Farm."

All of these are to be found in both city library and county collection.

THE SENTINEL articles included charges made by two former bebop girls, now in an institution, who said they belonged to a clique of "real" bebops who were required to steal at least one skirt a month, miss church at least once a month, and have sexual intercourse.

Msgr. Goebel said the order calling for the expulsion of all students who violate the bebop ban was issued as a result of an investigation by archdiocesan school authorities and home and school associations.

Bebopper Crew Banned From Catholic Schools

MILWAUKEE, Nov. 15—Teen-age beboppers—members of a club whose rules allegedly required sexual intercourse, theft and playing hockey from church—have been banned from all Catholic schools in the Milwaukee archdiocese.

Msgr. Edmund J. Goebel, superintendent of the archdiocese's 49 elementary and high schools, issued the order yesterday with the approval of Archbishop Moses Kiley.

The order said beboppers can be detected among the schools' 10,000 pupils "by their dress, freakish haircuts, gang threats and abuse, unorthodox conduct and other marks and behavior."

Girl beboppers customarily wear a long tight dress or an Army field jacket and fatigue pants, babushka and saddle shoes. The mark of the boy bebopper is flamboyant drape pants, sport jackets in such colors as lavender and chartreuse, and a ducktail haircut.

The order referred to "recent adverse publicity" on beboppers—apparently a reference to a series of articles in the Milwaukee Sentinel dealing with an alleged inner ring of beboppers.

Msgr. Goebel said the order calling for the expulsion of all students who violate the bebop ban was issued as a result of an investigation by archdiocesan school authorities and home and school associations.

Looking Ahead

By George Benson
President

For generations life insurance has been a mainstay of economic protection for the American family. It still is one of the most important security props in most American homes. Today three out of every four families own life insurance through the investment of their savings with private insurance companies.

In comparatively recent years the pension idea mushroomed and now approximately 50,000,000 workers are participants in the federal government's Old Age and Survivors Insurance ("Social Security") program through which a fixed monthly pension is paid at retirement age.

Thus these two sources—private insurance and public "Social Security"—constitute primary bulwarks of economic security for the homes of America. But day by day, week by week, both are being sabotaged by inflation. Every day the inflation continues the holders of $70,000,000 insurance policies with a face value of $214,000,000,000 are being robbed, their future made less secure. Every day it continues, these people are seeing this promised "security" evaporate with the declining value of the dollar.

THE $100 MONTHLY old age pension of today may be so sabotaged in purchasing power by the inflation within a few years that it wouldn't pay a week's grocery bill for a retired man and his wife. So long as inflation continues, pensioned "security" life insurance "security" and savings account "security" can only be a mirage. The $100 pension of 1939 has now dropped to $56 worth of purchasing power for food and clothes and the decline continues.

The 1950 Congress doubled old age pension payments under the "Social Security" program but the increase in dollars barely took care of the loss to inflation during the last 10 years.

Congress didn't do anything about the "security" loss sustained by the nearly 40,000,000 families who have invested over the years in insurance policies.

The insurance owned by these families has lost about $100,000,000,000 in purchasing power due to inflation. Hardly anybody has escaped injury.

What inflation has done to such savings is strikingly illustrated by the plight of my friend Joe. He's a salaried man. For 20 years he denied his family many wished-for things in order to pay for a 6-unit apartment building which he felt would provide ample "security." In 1939 he made the last payment.

THEN HE GOT an offer of $14,800 for the property. To Joe, that much cash seemed a small fortune. He sold and put the money in a savings account to await the day when he would buy another investment property. The money's still in the bank. Today it would scarcely pay the down payment on the apartment building Joe sold 11 years ago—priced now, in inflation-hit dollars, at $45,000.

Joe's salary is another illustration of the damages of inflation. He's had four substantial raises since 1940 but his present salary actually has only five percent more purchasing power, in food and clothing, than his much lower salary had in 1940. The industrial wage earner has probably had twice as many raises; his income has increased about 150 percent since 1940. But inflation has hit wages so heavily, the Bureau of Labor Statistics reports that in actual purchasing power the weekly income of the average industrial worker has increased by only $9.22 since 1940.

That's about enough to buy an average pair of shoes—with our cheap 1950 dollars. Obviously higher wages and salaries cannot bring a permanent improvement in living standards so long as we continue to have inflation. But if inflation can be halted and wages and salaries should thereafter be based on a rising productivity, then permanent, wholesome improvement in the American living standard can be made.

Our costly preparations for full-scale war will bring serious new inflation pressures to bear unless strong measures are applied immediately in the management of federal government finances. Every person has a stake: his pocket book is involved; and, at longer range the stability and strength of our nation. Every congressman and every Federal official knows what must be done to stem inflation. They will take the necessary action when sufficient people ask them to do so. So far sufficient people haven't. Have you?

Democrat Solon Says 'Millions' Spent For Taft

WASHINGTON, Nov. 15—Democratic charges that the victory of Sen. Taft in Ohio was bought with "millions" of dollars were aired today on Capitol Hill.

The charges were made by Rep. Kirwan, (D) Ohio, chairman of the Democratic Congressional Campaign Committee, who said that Taft supporters "spent ten times more than the Democrats."

Kirwan denied that the Democratic organization in Ohio "knifed" its own candidate, Joseph T. Ferguson.

The Democratic leader said that Taft won by a 430,000-vote majority because (1) the Republicans spent more money than the Democrats, (2) all but a handful of newspapers supported Taft and (3) thousands of Democrats did not vote.

The Youngstown Democrat cited the use of lavish funds by

Big CIO Union Finally Agrees With Sen. Taft

WASHINGTON, Nov. 15—A big CIO union has come right out in favor of something proposed by Sen. Taft, (R) Ohio! Taft has been the particular and prime political target of organized labor leaders since he co-authored the Taft-Hartley Act in the 80th Congress. The CIO, the Republicans as the main reason for Taft's victory.

Kirwan stated: "The American dollar speaks all over the country and it certainly spoke in Ohio. They dumped them in there by the millions. They spent ten times more than the Democrats."

the AFL and the railroad brotherhoods combined as never before in a spectacularly unsuccessful campaign to defeat him in last week's Ohio election.

But now Isadore Katz, general manager for the CIO Textile Workers Union, comes out in support of Taft's proposed amendments to his own law. Katz said:

"We support the Taft amendment as far as it goes. We are satisfied from Sen. Taft's statements that he is willing to amend the law. The Taft amendments would be helpful."

Taft last year proposed 28 amendments to the Taft-Hartley law to make it more workable, and, Taft maintained, fairer to both employer and employee. The amendments passed the Senate but died in the House.

Mrs. 'Bugs' Baer Dies In Campaign

NEW YORK, Nov. 15 — Mrs. Arthur "Bugs" Baer, who had dedicated the last five years of her "borrowed time" to a ceaseless and magnificent fund-raising effort to combat heart dis-

Louise Baer, a former Folies girl who had married the celebrated humorist and settled down to a life as wife and moth-

FOR HIGH COMPRESSION... IT'S THE "ROCKET"!

Maybe you're ready—like we are—for a little brass-tacks talk about high-compression. Since Oldsmobile introduced the "Rocket" Engine two years ago, seems like everybody claims "high-compression"—but nobody explains it. The phrase simply means squeezing the gasoline into a smaller space before exploding it. This gets more power out of the same amount of fuel. But the engine must be designed for high-compression all the way through to assure smooth, quiet, gas-saving performance. The "Rocket" is 100% high-compression—from the crankshaft out. And the lowest-priced "Rocket" Engine car is Oldsmobile's "38." Makes good sense to try it soon—doesn't it?

FARM POLICY RESCUE

Last February the government had 563,000,000 bushels of corn impounded, all of which was purchased with tax money. That huge hoard has slipped back to 380,000,000 bushels. Nearly all of the 2,639,000 bales of cotton which the government owned have been reclaimed by growers. Loan wheat, at a towering 324,000,000 bushel total in government warehouses last February, has slid back to 75,000,000 bushels.

The farm planners were on a spot. They had applied high farm price guarantees and didn't have the political honesty to keep production down near consumption level, with allowance only for safe reserves. Instead the reserves were piled up to unmanageable proportions. Now the war has taken them off the hook for the time being.

Prices soared considerably above support levels and the farmers simply paid off their loans and took their crops back. They can sell in the open market at a higher figure than they could realize by defaulting on the loans.

It will not be difficult for the government to get back in the same rut, though. Winter wheat farmers are planting unrestrictedly in a favorable growing season, which may result in a tremendous crop next year. If the war doesn't continue to grow and grow, the taxpayers will be called upon to buy mountains of wheat, to be stored until it spoils.

That, from whatever angle it is viewed, does not seem to be a fair deal for the taxpayers.

CANDIDATES ON TV

POLITICAL candidates who once regarded radio as a 20th Century boon are now convinced that there's nothing like television—particularly the candidates who are telegenic.

This most recent campaign clearly indicated that television will do a job for a candidate who looks well on the screen and who can talk without too many notes in front of him.

Of course television is much more expensive than radio—by the half hour or quarter hour—but the candidates feel it pays off. The people not only hear the candidates but see them. Governor Dewey himself in New York went on a TV marathon as a convinced advocate of television.

We can see the campaign pattern shaping up in 1952—more television, less radio, and the candidates taking lessons in how to appear on television and impress the people.

George E. Sokolsky's

These Days

On October 27, 1950, Malcolm Jasper of Topeka, Kans., wrote me most interestingly on the United Nations.

I want to quote two paragraphs from his letter:

"I feel it my duty to say that I for one object to the ideas expressed in the column. I object because in my opinion these ideas lessen the chances for a just world peace and equitable world harmony.

"In my opinion a strengthened and representative United Nations is our best hope for attaining the ideals mentioned above. To me the UN means that perhaps my boy and other people's children may be spared from world battle. Of course the UN and all its broad organization means more than just the absence of war, but that I think is what most people are hoping it can bring about. It therefore seems to me that the flag of the United Nations is a flag symbolizing the brotherhood of the world. It therefore deserves and requires greater allegiance than our beloved national flag."

We can start out by admitting that the objective of the United Nations is a "just world peace and equitable world harmony." That also was the objective of the League of Nations, of the Hague Tribunal and other efforts throughout history.

So we shall pass over the objectives as laudable and go forward to reality.

There is still no evidence that the United Nations can be an instrument for the attainment of world peace. At best, it is a parliament of nations, among whom are actually warring nations. At this moment, five of the United Nations, Russia, Poland, Czechoslovakia, Ukraine and Byelorussia (White Russia), are at war with the other members of the United Nations. To this group, we must add Soviet China and Soviet Korea and other Soviet countries in Europe. This imperialistic body of nations, centrally directed from the Kremlin, controls 800 million people—nearly one-third of the human race.

When we speak of the United Nations, we speak not of a building or a government but of this parliament of nations, which includes the above enemies of peace in our times.

It is not as simple as Mr. Jasper suggests. We are at the moment of an historic challenge by an empire, taking advantage of the hard times which have beset the world as a result of two wars and a deep, universal economic depression. Should the Slavic-Mongol empire conquer Asia, the United Nations will give way to two blocs of nations:

1. The Federation of Soviet Republics;
2. The Christian nations of which the North Atlantic Alliance will be the core.

Mr. Jasper says:

"To me the UN means that perhaps my boy and other people's children may be spared from world battle."

That could not be said with any sense of realism on Oct. 27, 1950. At that time, the United States had already reported 27,610 casualties in the Korean war—and since then the number has increased greatly. In fact, since June 25, the United States has again been put on a war footing, including conscription, priorities and mounting debt.

It is now within prospect that General MacArthur's American Army will soon have to fight in French Indo-China and if the Soviet Chinese army marches through Tibet to Nepal, India will be imperiled and will plead for aid. Simultaneously, the armies of the North Atlantic Alliance count.

LOOK OUT for LIZA

CHAPTER TWENTY-THREE
AT LUNCH, "For a little thing, you eat a lot," Michael remarked.

"I enjoy eating," Liza replied reasonably. "Also, it sustains life."

"It's very expensive, the way you do it."

"I shall pay for it, then."

"What distresses you, Michael?"

"It is the brushoff?" she inquired. "But that is what I promised you. You can't have it your way. Patty wouldn't brush off. So you must be. And by her. In this way, she retains her pride, and you have your freedom back, unthreatened."

He said gloomily, "I miss her cooking."

Liza sighed. "My friend, make up your mind. If her cooking is so important, rush back to her, entreat her pardon, and marry her as soon as you can procure the necessary papers."

Michael grinned. He took off his glasses, brushed and replaced them. He said, "Okay, so my vanity is wounded."

"It need not be," said Liza, her speech crackling with celery. She looked at her, at the open-air cafe, the awnings, the umbrellas.

"Stick to my vanity. Why not?"

"You have but to inform Patty that the things I told her about you were fabrications."

"What things? Don't think I haven't known that you gave her an earful. But of what?"

She told him, beginning, "When a week ago Monday night, we repaired to the powder room, your Patty and I . . ."

He listened, speechless. When he found his voice, he said, "My poor parents."

"I know. I'm truly sorry, Michael, about that. But I had to give you a background. She's from Iowa and believes in heredity."

"What has being from Iowa to do with it?"

"I don't know. Did you know she was from Iowa?"

"Yes, of course. I knew everything about her."

"Without doubt," said Liza, applying herself to a mixed green salad and remarking that the dressing was a trifle too sharp.

"Not in the sense you think, wretched woman."

"I did not think that, not after meeting Patty. She looked at him reproachfully. "A nice girl," she said, "please pass the celery . . ."

and added, "far too good for you, as it happens."

She cracked some more. Then she said, "So when we had tea I told her about your uncle Fowler, who had to be put away—"

"I haven't an uncle Fowler," he said, agitated. "I haven't even an uncle!"

"No? Your uncle Fowler," she said, "was a genius. He was a writer. But never recovered from his experiences in the first World War. In those days, it was called shell shock. On his return home he went back to the newspaper he edited in your home town—By the way, what is your home town? I've forgotten."

"I was born in New York City, Borough of Manhattan."

"Oh. Well, possibly, I said, his home town. He wrote with great brilliance, but became more and more despondent. When on one of the same day subscribers objected to his editorial on the local political situation and a proof reader omitted quotation marks, he set fire to the office, went home, and threatened his wife, with a Luger."

"Liza, you are making this up!"

"Of course, unless you really have an uncle Fowler."

"I mean, you're making it up that you made it up."

"Perhaps I didn't put it quite so bluntly," admitted Liza, "but I did convey a suggestion of insanity on your mother's side of the family."

"Merciful heavens!" said Michael.

She said, "Your vanity will recover. Meantime you are free. Now, as to the other part of our bargain."

"What bargain?" he said warily.

"You remember, quite clearly, soon. You and I, and several of your friends. You have friends, other than Bill?"

"Numerous. Most of them are married, or frustrated, or too trusting to be exposed to you, Liza."

She said, "After I thought it over I came to the conclusion that you were not going to prove helpful. I suppose I can manage alone."

"You'll manage."

She said piteously, "So far, no prospects. This time, with Hiram Mason driving me . . ."

"Well?"

"Yes, I do not like him. He is a stuffed shirt. And fancies he would like to have an affair with me."

Michael started violently. "Did he make a pass at you?" he demanded.

Due to the demand for recounts, several victory celebrations have been postponed until January when they can be held in conjunction with New Year's Eve at no advance in prices.

The President doesn't know yet whether it's as bad as it looks or as worse as it could be. All we saw was that he came back from his vacation "well tanned" and that seems to be the general impression.

But he's got $110,000 income after taxes to keep him warm though the next Senate blow cold on his program.

He's doing much better financially than the king of England who has two and two-thirds cents left after taxes out of every dollar he makes.

This makes him the most popular and busted king in recent English history and neither of his daughters sings.

But at the moment this is no consolation to the next governor of Michigan. . . whoever he may be.

They could settle the whole thing now by giving it to Reuther.

Iran Next on Soviet Aggression Timetable? Nation Choice Morsel Thanks to Oil Wealth

WASHINGTON—Iran, land of oil, may be the next international target on the timetable of Russia's striking hammer and sickle. The Soviet desire to "annex" her southern Middle Eastern neighbor can be traced to two strong elements: "Black Gold" that flows from Iranian wells, and Iran's strategic location.

Russia, herself, does not have enough oil to keep her machines of war running at full pitch over a prolonged period. Across the border in Iran are the bulk of the world's known oil reserves, with an estimated 700,000 barrels of oil being turned out daily, and virtually all of it going to the West. Control of Iran would both give Russia a needed oil supply, and cut off from a major political foe—the West—a supply of fuel.

Iran's strategic importance lies in her location along the Persian Gulf and the Gulf of Oman, gateways to the Arabian sea, and warm water ports. Both have been objectives of a power-hungry Russia ever since the days of Peter the Great. Frustrated by Iran's pro-Western attitude, that makes these objectives impossible, Russia has turned anti-Iran. Radio Moscow broadcasts a daily course of anti-Iranian propaganda, a sure-fire indication that the Kremlin's eye might be preparing a possible whammy for the land of Iran. Radio Moscow's siren voice frequently links Teheran, capital of Iran, with Washington, and these links are turned into sharp-pronged, anti-government attacks beamed into Iran's cities. For example, when the sisters of the shah of Iran, Mohammed Reza Pahlavi, married an American, Radio Moscow intoned, "This is an instance where a ruler 'offers the imperialist Americans his own sister.'"

Again, when Gen. Lawton Collins, United States Army chief of staff, visited Iran as part of this nation's program to aid countries seeking to ward off political communism, Radio Moscow chanted Teheran was giving Washington secret military bases and turning its oil well over to Wall Street.

Moscow follows up its propaganda with official action. After the Collins visit, an official protest was made to the shah on grounds the Americans were establishing bases. Retorted the shah: "Tell it to the United Nations"; a reference to the UN action of 1946 when Russia failed to secure control over Iran.

However, the Soviets haven't stopped planning. It is said the Kremlin has instructed Marshal Bagramian, in charge of all Russian forces in the southern section of the land, to blueprint the invasion of Iran. At the same time, Russian "Trojan-Horse" tactics have been stepped up. The Soviets have increased the Teheran embassy staff to over 200. Also, the Tudeh party is reported under control of Moscow's agents, and although the party has gone underground, it is putting out a pro-Russian weekly newspaper.

Early this year, the Soviets doubled their radio time allotted to Iran, with more than 10 hours a day being devoted to propaganda beamed to the 100,000 sets in Iran. The Russians stress the country's poverty, diseases, illiteracy, the plight of the workers who can not organize and the fact that the landlords and money lenders hold life-and-death power over tenants and debtors.

To offset Radio Moscow, Radio Teheran relays the Voice of America, but this is less than an hour a day; a highly unfavorable ratio.

● BUSY CONGRESS—The post-election session of Congress will have more bills rained on its head than it could possibly dispose of in its brief three weeks.

An excess profits tax, Hawaiian and Alaskan statehood, draft act amendments and possibly a new 10-billion-dollar defense appropriation are some of the major issues that may face the "lame duck" Congress. In addition, the Senate war investigating committee and the crime reform plan full schedules.

Gen. George C. Marshall probably will be the most sought after witness. He became Defense secretary just as Congress quit for its election recess and the session reconvening next month will be the first opportunity for committees to quiz him.

55 Attend Annual Trophy Dinner Given Members Of Pickaway Country Club

Varied Awards Are Presented

Fifty-five persons were present at the annual trophy dinner of the Pickaway Country Club held in the clubhouse Sunday evening.

F. O. Patrick, club president, was master of ceremonies.

Guests seated at small tables heard speeches by Mrs. Larry Athey, women's golf chairman; William Goodchild, men's golf chairman; and Ed Amey, club manager and pro.

Patrick first awarded trophies to the women champions. Mrs. Herbert Eshelman received the trophy as the club's woman champion.

Mrs. Larry Athey received trophy for first flight, Mrs. Harold Hott for second and Mrs. George Speakman for third.

Receiving a trophy as winner in the ringer tournament was Mrs. Frank Wantz. The club handicap tournament trophy was awarded to Mrs. William Steele.

Verlin Blankenship received the men's club championship trophy. Trophy for first flight went to Dr. Walter Heine, Dwight Steele second, William Steele third, D. J. Carpenter fourth and to Walter Heine, fifth.

Robert Friece won the men's ringer tournament award. Joe Bell received trophies for both the Dr. C. G. Stewart and the fourth-of-July handicap tournaments.

Dan Musser received the junior membership handicap tournament award.

Harold Hott was awarded a special trophy as hole-in-one winner July 26, 1950.

Pickaway Country Club women presented a white nylon sweater to Mrs. Athey in recognition of her service as golf chairman. William Goodchild, men's golf chairman, received a golf shirt as gift from the men in the club.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Reid, social chairman, were presented with a lamp by club members.

Kumler-Campbell Marriage Told

Mr. and Mrs. Jess Pearl of Pataskala, have announced the marriage of their daughter, Doris Poff Kumler, to James Wiley Campbell, son of Mrs. James Wiley Campbell of Circleville, and the late Mr. Campbell.

The double ring ceremony was solemnized Saturday in Lancaster First Methodist church by the Rev. George Herd. Attendants for the couple were Mr. and Mrs. Larkin C. Durdin of Lancaster.

The bride has been associated with a Lancaster bank. Mr. Campbell represents the Cincinnati regional office of Prudential Insurance Co. He is a graduate of Bliss Business College and Ohio State university.

After a wedding trip through the South, the couple will reside in Lancaster.

Jackson PTS Set To Aid Needy

At the Jackson Township Parent-Teacher Society meeting, recently, Mrs. Roloff Wolford, president, appointed a committee to arrange for a Christmas basket for a needy family.

Mrs. Charles Neff is chairman. Assisting her will be Mrs. George Fischer and Mrs. Ned Walker.

Mrs. Jacob Conrad, program chairman, presented the following entertainers: Mary Krimmel in a piano solo; Willard Dudleson in two readings, Mrs. Paul Thompson in a piano solo and Jackson high school girls chorus and junior girls glee club.

Refreshments were served to the group by a committee headed by Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Krimmel.

In View Of The News

By J. C. Oestreicher
INS Foreign Director

Possibility of an early new meeting of the Big Four Council of Foreign Ministers to grapple with mounting world problems receded today despite statements both by East and West that such a conference is desirable.

British Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin has put the latest damper on the proposal. He told the House of Commons that Britain is always ready to participate in a "sincere attempt to end world tension."

But he said that the latest Soviet proposal for such a meeting, made public after a meeting of Russian and satellite foreign ministers in Prague, "does not afford an adequate basis for dealing with these great problems."

Western rejection of the Russian suggestion was anticipated from the outset.

The Prague statement was essentially a repetition of the Soviet propaganda line on Germany.

It inferentially again accused the Western Powers of transforming Germany into an armed garrison and restoring her military might.

MORE IMPORTANT, it completely sidestepped the persistent Allied demand that agreement on free elections for all of Germany must precede four-power negotiations.

The Bevin statement is likely to come as a disappointment to France, which earnestly hopes for early four-power talks in the belief they might result in some amelioration of the perilous situation in French Indo-China.

It is noteworthy that in his comment on the Russian proposal, French Foreign Minister Robert Schuman said merely that France believes a new four-power session should not be restricted to the problem of Germany, alone but rather should embrace all issues now in conflict throughout the world.

The United States government has deep and full sympathy with France's difficulties in the Far East.

Money and military supplies are now arriving at French and colonial ports to help the French army in its struggle with Communism.

But despite this, the United States position with regard to four-power talks is unchanged unless it is stiffer than ever.

The crux of the matter is Allied insistence that the Russians give some definite proof of their earnestness and sincerity before the west will agree to meet again at the risk of seeing its statesmen turned once again into butts of Communist propaganda.

The fact of the matter is that the Russians are in a position to make concessions in any one of a half dozen places as evidence of some degree of sincerity.

THERE IS AUSTRIA, where Russian stubbornness has resulted in complete deadlock in the writing of a peace treaty.

There is Indo-China, where the Communists would have to ease pressure on orders from Moscow.

There is of course Korea and the whole Far East, to say nothing of Germany itself where a real unification of East and West undoubtedly would benefit both sides.

The Russian maneuvers with regard to a Big Four session are advantageous to Communist propaganda everywhere. Ostensibly the Soviets are making repeated gestures for unity and Red propagandists are able to put across the argument that these peace moves are being rejected consistently.

This is, needless to say, a distortion. But not all persons susceptible to the party line know the full story and all the facts.

So the original distortion leads to greater ones, increases the misunderstandings and delays indefinitely the date when it might be possible for the Big Four nations to meet again on even terms, in an attitude of trust and an atmosphere of sincerity.

So we come to Mr. Jasper's statement that the UN flag "deserves and requires greater allegiance than our beloved national flag."

Actually, the United Nations flag deserves no allegiance, for the United Nations is not a country or a state, or a government; it is a parliament of the nations who maintain it.

Thus far, American soldiers fight for it under an American commander-in-chief, using American equipment paid for by the American taxpayer.

$2,500 Damages Asked In Farm Operation Suit

A suit asking $2,500 damages and appointment of a receiver in a partnership involving the operation of a 205-acre farm in Muhlenberg Township has been filed in Pickaway County common pleas court.

The suit was started by Vona Corkwell of Mt. Sterling against Francis Dean of Williamsport Route 1.

Plaintiff claims she entered into a contract with Dean for operation of the farm under the equal share grain livestock plan.

Her petition claims the defendant breached the contract by failing to haul all the manure, failing to keep and maintain inside fences and failing to devote all his time to conducting the farm operation. This, plaintiff claims, caused $2,500 damages to herself and the farm.

Plaintiff claims the defendant disposed of jointly owned property without her knowledge or consent, and failed to account for the proceeds until forced to do so by the plaintiff.

PLAINTIFF ALSO claims the defendant refuses to make a proper division of the jointly owned property, but threatens to remove it beyond the jurisdiction of the court.

She states the jointly owned property is in danger of being lost, removed or materially injured unless a receiver is appointed.

Plaintiff asks the court for the $2,500 judgment, appointment of a receiver to preserve the joint assets, for an accounting and dissolution of business relationship between the parties, for determination of ownership of any property in dispute and for an injunction to prevent the defendant from disposing or removing property or from interfering with the receiver.

Nation's Hens Set New Record

WASHINGTON, Nov. 15—The Agriculture Department says that the nation's barnyard queens shattered every October

egg-laying record on the books last month.

Farm flocks in October laid four billion, 14 million eggs, six percent more than October a year ago and 37 percent better than the average.

The nation's hens have been pushing production pretty hard all year. During the first 10 months of this year they laid 51 billion, 255 million eggs, or seven percent more than in the first 10 months last year.

In a word, it is impossible at this moment to assume that our sons are safe because of the existence of the United Nations. They are actually being mobilized for war.

The United Nations Organization, in this respect, is incapable of maintaining the peace as long as the initiative for peace or war remains with the Soviet empire, which is so situated geographically and so organized politically that it can, on a 7,000-mile front, weary other nations by costly local wars.

So we come to Mr. Jasper's statement that the UN flag "deserves and requires greater allegiance than our beloved national flag."

Actually, the United Nations flag deserves no allegiance, for the United Nations is not a country or a state, or a government; it is a parliament of the nations who maintain it.

Pickaway Below State Average

Dairy farmers in Pickaway County were producing 15.2 pounds of milk per day per cow in November, 1948, according to a report from the Ohio Agricultural Experiment Station in Wooster.

This was one pound less than the state milk production figure of 16.2 pounds per day per cow.

During 1948, the report continued, Ohio farm flocks produced 2,599,000,000 chicken eggs, of which 320 million were consumed in farm households, 2,275 million sold from the farm at an average price of 47.4 cents per dozen.

The value of eggs consumed in farm households was $12,640,000, and of eggs sold from the farms, $89,862,000. The rate of lay per layer on hand during the year was 177.

THE EXPERIMENT station explained that this figure was reached by dividing the number of eggs produced during the year by the average number of hens and pullets of laying age on hand during the year.

The report gave a preliminary estimate of the number of chickens on Ohio farms during 1949. Total number was 18,409,000, of which 5,654,000 were hens, 11,781,000 pullets and 974,000 other chickens.

The report said that in 1949 there were 1,025,000 turkeys on Ohio farms, of which 988,000 were sold at an average price of 47.9 cents per pound. The average liveweight per bird was 17.5 pounds. Value of the sales was $8,282,000.

County's Army Reserve Brass Getting Hikes

A series of promotions of Pickaway County Army Reserve officers has been started.

First promotion has been made to William D. Radcliff of Williamsport, raising him from major to lieutenant colonel. As a civilian, he is judge of common pleas court here.

Radcliff is chief of the legal division of the 9242 Transportation Central Procurement Office, a unit that would be concerned with the making and handling of military contracts in the event of war, according to Major Frederick C. Bott of Fort Hayes, Columbus.

Major Bott said other promotions for Pickaway County reserve officers are in the offing. "We are very pleased with the Pickaway County group," he said. "They have cooperated extremely well in the organization of reserve units."

Kentucky Lad Thanked For Aid To 'Voice'

CINCINNATI, Nov. 15—A Kentucky 10-year-old had the official appreciation of the State Department today for $2 sent in to "help improve the Voice Of America."

The $2 were mailed to the Crosley Broadcasting Corp. at Cincinnati by young Jan Ringo of Erlanger, Ky., who said he was "interested in radio and television" and wanted to aid the "Voice."

Crosley turned the letter over to the State Department and Edward Barrett, assistant secretary of department public affairs, sent Jan this reply:

"Speaking for all of us who work for the Voice Of America, I want you to know how much we appreciate what you have done."

"Unfortunately, Jan, we are required by law to turn that money over to the U. S. Treasury, but we want you to know we appreciate your spirit even more than your contribution."

Rent Control Extender Asked

WASHINGTON, Nov. 15 — The administration plans today to press for extension of the rent control law beyond Dec. 31, despite a prediction by Sen. Taft, (R) Ohio, that nothing will be done before next year.

A reliable Capitol Hill source said that although President Truman has little hope of getting a long-term rent bill through the "lame duck" Congress due to meet this month, pressure will be applied for a resolution extending the present law at least 60 days.

Under the present law, federal rent controls will die Dec. 31 unless individual communities ask the government to continue them for another six months.

Defense Cites 'Brain Waves'

PICTON, Ont., Nov. 15—Electrical measurements of human brain waves were placed on the record in a Canadian court for the first time today in the murder trial of James Fosbraey.

Dr. Dennis White of Kingston General hospital, a witness for the defense, testified that the measurements revealed "an abnormality which would lower Fosbraey's resistance to anti-social impulses."

Fosbraey, 28, is accused of stabbing his estranged wife to death a year ago when he suspected her of infidelity. He was sentenced to hang at a previous trial, but appealed and won a re-hearing.

Farm Know-How Not One-Way Street, Claim

WASHINGTON, Nov. 15 — A U. S. expert on foreign agricultural trade says that international trading of technical farm know-how is not a one-way street.

Dr. Ross E. Moore, chief of the technical collaboration branch of the Office of Foreign Agricultural Relations, says although the U. S. is training foreign agricultural people and sending specialists abroad to help out here and there, the U. S. "also can receive."

He adds that some of the people who are receiving U. S. know-how are persons who are "qualified leaders in their fields" and have contributions to make in return.

Ross declares that "the foundation stones for our own agricultural progress were borrowed from the old world — and even though we take pride in how we

You can't afford to buy trucks by guess-work today. What you carry—how far and fast you carry it—under what road and traffic conditions—all must be considered in specifying the right truck for you in times like these.

That's our specialty as a GMC truck dealer—we are first and foremost transportation engineers. Our one aim is to recommend the exact combination of engine, frame, axles, transmission, cab and optional equipment that is best suited for your year-round hauling requirements.

Come in and see us—whether you want a 1/2-ton pickup or a giant Diesel 90,000 lb. GCW six-wheeler. We can give you exactly the right truck—designed for longer mileage with less maintenance expense—and it will be a real truck, engineered for your type of work.

That's why GMC sales are greater today than ever before. Truckers find they are best in the long haul. Let us show you why.

"TODAY'S WOMAN GOES SHOPPING"

For Her Home, Her Family and Herself

Are you hunting for a gift for the special person in your life? We saw something at L. M. BUTCH CO., JEWELERS that is different—a MUSICAL CANDY BOX or bon-bon dish—imagine passing the chocolates to the tune of a popular ditty. A divided tray permits the hostess to serve a variety of sweets and it is removable and easily kept fresh and dainty. Just the right gift for that person who—just has everything. $10.

Hush-a-bye baby, daddy's gone a huntin'—this time daddy's huntin' a gift for mother for Christmas—if he means to be practical and a her roaster is none too good—a trip to HARPSTER & YOST will stop all his huntin'. There he will find a WEAR EVER ROASTER of extra hard, thick sheet aluminum. This roaster sells for $5.95 and has a multitude of uses. A handy lift rack makes it so practical. An 8 pound fowl or 15 pound roast is capacity. It is also ideal for roasting the less expensive cuts of meat—makes them tender and delicious. If you are having a large gathering—bake the beans in the roaster or make a macaroni and cheese bake for the crowd—all in your roaster.

Baby huntin' whose daddy went a-huntin'—fared pretty well—he got her a CINDY LEE TREASURE CASE—this is absolutely the last word in dollidom. An all rubber baby with all the gadgets for her comfort including a bottle warmer in pink enamel with 4 tiny bottles. A tiny spoon and measuring cup to prepare the formula and a funnel to fill the bottles. A tiny bathrobe and a terry cloth bib are included. The carrying case is a treasure—sturdy wooden case, hand decorated in pastel colors with a plastic handle. All this for only $5.98 at W. T. GRANT COMPANY.

Hunting tops are the between 9 a. m. and 5 p. m. garb of those who are in the hunt for the next month and a half but for evenings and after hunting season all of them will be needing an ALLIGATOR TOP COAT. This is the most popular topcoat on the market today—America's most wanted gabardine—luxurious 100% all virgin wool worsted. Styled and tailored for smart, comfortable wear the year round—the all-weather—all-purpose favorite. Get your Alligator coat at CADDY MILLER HAT SHOP.

Some years back, hunting for CHESTNUTS was a favorite pastime for the youths and girls in the Fall. There are no chestnuts in this vicinity now so they must be imported. That is what PALM'S GROCERY & CARRY OUT has done. In time for your chestnut dressing for that Thanksgiving bird. Just 29c per pound.

This is the time of year when hunters start polishing their guns and buying ammunition for the opening of the game season—this is also the time of year when a comfortable home made handsome by the addition of MERSMAN TABLES in the rooms appeals most to the worker. Occasional tables that have been called the costume jewelry of the home give the "complete look" of grace and beauty to your home. You'll want several—for they're as useful as they are elegant. A step-end table for either end of the davenport—a cocktail table lamp tables to brighten corners and place by easy chairs. They also make wonderful gifts. MASON FURNITURE.

Hunting is a strenuous sport especially for the man who works in an office. After a day's spent in an office, a comfortable chair by his fire-side not only looks good but feels that way. Chances are he will fall asleep in the chair—make certain that he has a good comfortable easy chair in which to relax. MASON FURNITURE has lounge chairs as low as $69.50 that are guaranteed to be comfortable and also to be so carefully constructed that they will last for years.

If the land on which you are hunting this season is at a distance you will need a CLOCK RADIO. You will need it all the year too and what a pleasure it will be. Get up in the mornings to gentle music from the radio, perhaps the morning coffee will be perking—really leisurely living. HOOVER MUSIC STORE has General Electric clock radios for $34.95 and Zenith at $39.95.

HIS PROSPECTS VARIED

Boudreau Ready To Go, But Destination Unknown

NEW YORK, Nov. 15—Lou Boudreau is about to go somewhere—destination unknown. The personable ex-manager of the Cleveland Indians, got his unconditional release as a follow-up to being fired after a tenure that covered nine years.

The Cleveland club, which originally said a job was being sought for the shortstop, revealed that negotiations are off and that he is waived out of the American League, has his unconditional and can make a trade for himself.

Here are his prospects: The Pittsburgh Pirates as manager, except that Billy Meyer has a holdover $40,000 a year contract, and the Pirate new general manager, Branch Rickey, is not likely to pay Meyer to loaf and Boudreau to manage. The St. Louis Cardinals as manager, due to the recent resignation of Eddie Dyer, whose vacant post is still unfilled. Owner Fred Saigh probably would balk at paying Boudreau anything like the reported salary of $65,000 he received at Cleveland.

THE BROOKLYN Dodgers, who probably will not retain

Les Sanders Paces Monroe To Victory

Monroe high school's basketball team got off to a lame start Tuesday night in a game with Fairfield of Madison County, but the Pickaway countians came back strong and took the final decision 50-40.

With Fairfield holding a first quarter edge of 11-10, Monroe's Lester Sanders, who collected a total of 23 points, paced the way to ultimate victory.

In the preliminary, Monroe's reserves topped the Fairfield subs, 35-21.

Full Schedule Of Games Set For Weekend

A full program of seven basketball games is on tap for Pickaway County cage fans this Friday.

Four county league contests take the spotlight during this week's program, while three county schools will play host to outside teams.

In addition, a special game is planned at Walnut for Saturday night against Pleasantville of the Fairfield County league.

League contests on tap for Friday consist of Jackson at Ashville; Atlanta at Salt Creek in Pickaway County Coliseum; Scioto at Pickaway; and Walnut at Williamsport.

NON-LEAGUE encounters to be held are Jeffersonville at Darby; Carroll at Monroe; and Bloomington at New Holland.

Three of the county teams will be opening their league season during the Friday schedule. They are Ashville, Atlanta and Walnut, who drew byes for last week's opener.

NEW YORK, Nov. 15—The Indianapolis Olympians are on their way out of the lower regions of the National Basketball Association's western division after a slow start.

The former Kentucky stars swamped the Syracuse Nationals last night, 108 to 78, and in doing so, shoved Minneapolis into the last place position they formerly occupied.

New York's Knickerbockers copped their second straight as they nudged the Washington Capitols in their first meeting of the season, 92 to 87.

Vince Boryla was high scorer for the Knicks with 21 points, and Fred Scolari led the Caps with 16.

The Philadelphia Warriors moved into first place in the eastern division with a 84 to 72 win over the Baltimore Bullets.

Other teams were not scheduled.

NEW YORK, Nov. 15—It's no news that a good news for Illinois, Saturday's opponent for the Ohio State gridiron powerhouse.

The news is that Tony Curcillo, the Buckeye's stellar quarterback, may very well recover from his ankle injury so he can play in Saturday's clash in Champaign, Ill.

Curcillo injured his ankle in last Saturday's tilt with Wisconsin, which went 19-14 to the Bucks.

Curcillo still has a slight limp but he is improving quickly under Trainer Ernie Biggs and Dr. Dick Patton, Buckeye "bone menders."

Vic Janowicz, another Buckeye casualty last week, did some running yesterday and probably will make the drill sessions today in better shape.

Chuck Gandee, fullback, was bothered with a rib injury yesterday but is sure to make the opening lineup Saturday.

5 Football Coaches Mentioned To Get Bernie Bierman's Post

MINNEAPOLIS, Nov. 15—Five football coaches from widely scattered sections of the nation were unofficially reported under consideration today as successors to University of Minnesota Mentor Bernie Bierman who announced he will resign at the close of the present season.

All of those mentioned said, however, they have not been approached by Gopher officials and one—Bud Wilkinson of Oklahoma—said he wants to remain where he is.

Wilkinson, whose team now sports a 28-game undefeated string, played his college football under Bierman at Minnesota. He said:

"I have never been asked to go to Minnesota. I have three more years left on my contract at Oklahoma and I hope they keep me after my current contract expires."

Frnka, rumored as a Bierman successor when the Gopher coach was under fire from students and alumni two years ago, said he was "pleased and proud" at the report he is under consideration again but added:

"RIGHT NOW MY only thoughts are on the University of Virginia and after that Van-derbilt and LSU—Tulane's next opponents."

Ward, once Bierman's back-field coach, expressed interest in the Minnesota job but said he doubted any official offer will be made for two or three months.

James asserted he is "satisfied at Cornell" but added "I'd certainly consider a Minnesota offer seriously if I got one. I'd be foolish if I didn't."

Munn, like Wilkinson a former Minnesota player, is known to be content with his post at Michigan State, where he has fashioned one of the nation's newest football powers. It is believed he will have his greatest team next season.

Association Set To Plan Card

CINCINNATI, Nov. 15—Directors of the American Associa-

Adcock Seeking To Don Uniform

CINCINNATI, Nov. 15—Determined efforts of Joe Adcock, Cincinnati Redlegs leftfielder, to enlist in the armed services may stop him from returning to his old stand next season.

Adcock told Redleg President Warren Giles yesterday he was turned down by the Airforce. He said a trick knee caused him to fail the exam.

Adcock said he intended to try for another branch of the service today.

The schedule, however, will not be announced until sometime "around Christmas."

The Triple A league directors will begin the two-day session while the major league draft will take place Thursday morning.

Red Cross Blood Donor Stand Cited

District Leader Holds Parley Here

Circleville was told bluntly this week that it is shirking its duty in the Red Cross blood bank program.

Delivering the chiding was Mrs. Collette Ryan, district blood program field representative.

Mrs. Ryan made the statement Monday evening during a meeting of Red Cross officials and representatives from several Circleville service groups in an attempt to reorganize the local blood program.

The speaker said the local blood program should be reorganized because "our armed forces need the blood badly."

She added that "a lot of people in Circleville do not think we are getting blood here because we have contributed so little to the program."

Mrs. Ryan pointed out that Circleville already has received three or four times as much blood or blood derivatives on hand as it has contributed to the program.

ANOTHER MEETING of the group to continue the reorganizational plans is expected to be held Dec. 11 in Pickaway County common pleas courtroom.

Mrs. Jacob Smallwood, secretary for the local Red Cross chapter, said it is hoped that members of the Pickaway County Medical Association will participate in the program if it should be reorganized here.

Mrs. Smallwood added that interest in bringing the program back to Circleville was very high during the session.

The bloodmobile is slated to appear in Ashville Dec. 15, where it has been doing "very nicely" in the past.

Ashville sponsors for the program hope to fulfill a quota of 100 pints of blood, the same quota which Circleville failed to make on several separate trips by the mobile blood unit.

In fact, when the bloodmobile appeared here last time, it failed to receive even one pint of blood.

'Samaritan' Found No Good

MINNEAPOLIS, Nov. 15 — A motorist had a flat tire in a Minneapolis suburb and was jacking up the wheel when an automobile stopped and the driver got out.

Myrlin Fishbaugh, anticipating help at his task, said:

"Boy, you're a real Samaritan."

"I'll get the spare tire out," said the "Samaritan."

Testing Devices Being Tested

Equipment used in testing weights in Pickaway County was itself undergoing a testing Tuesday by State Deputy Sealer Tom Collins.

The deputy sealer explained that county equipment is tested once every three years by the state. The state, in turn, has its equipment tested by the federal government every 10 years, and the federal government's equipment is checked by the International Bureau of Standards.

Deputy Sealer for Pickaway County is Eugene Wilson of Ashville.

Nunn-Bush Shoe Founder Dies

MILWAUKEE, Nov. 15 — Arthur W. Bush, 78, a founder of the Nunn-Bush Shoe Co., died Monday in a Milwaukee hospital where he was taken Friday for treatment of a heart ailment.

Bush organized Nunn-Bush in 1912 and retired from a active management four years ago after it had grown from a small plant to one of the leading shoe manufacturing firms in the United States.

Check-Writer Given Sentence

Carl Hott, 27, of Columbus has been sentenced to 1-3 years in Ohio State Reformatory in Mansfield by Judge William D. Radcliff in Pickaway County common pleas court.

Hott was indicted by the January grand jury for issuing checks without funds in the bank.

British Annual Says Reds Build Manpower Pool

LONDON, Nov. 15—Russia is reported today to be "working overtime" reorganizing its army to achieve a trained manpower pool of 12 to 13 million men by 1954. The Soviets also were said to be striving for a greatly expanded fleet augmented by 1,000 submarines.

The report comes from the new edition of the authoritative Brassey's Naval Annual. The annual said that the armed forces are being thoroughly reorganized with a greater emphasis on tanks, artillery and military aircraft.

Current plane production in Russia was estimated at 12,000 annually and the army's present first line aerial strength was placed at 18,000 planes.

The backbone of the air force was reported to be high performance jet fighters and fighter bombers now being built at a rate of nearly 2,000 a year.

The 64th edition of the standard naval reference work estimated that Russia has at present three million men under arms. But it added that since the end of the war one million 200 thousand men have been conscripted annually. It concluded:

"The present form of the army's trained manpower will probably be established at about 12 to 13 millions by 1954."
